

Subscription price $1 per year.
Copies 10 cents each.
Advertisers will receive one copy free for each insertion.

NEW ORLEANS:
FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 6, 1861.

SUBSCRIPTIONS BY THE WEEK
The carriers of the Bee are authorized to receive subscriptions to our paper, at the rate of one cent a week, payable in all cases to the carriers themselves.

Confederate Notes.

We are right glad to witness the patriotic and just position assumed by most of the city officials in reference to the issues of Confederate Treasury notes. There is no earthly reason why these notes should not circulate as freely as any other money in the country. They are as safe as those emanating from our most trusted banking institutions. They are put into circulation by the Government which has almost as much control over them as it would have over the boundaries resources of the States which constitute it. Does any citizen of the South doubt the faintest obligation of the power of the Federal Government to combat treason? We do not.

Reports from Washington.

Washington, September 5.—The assembled R. H. Franks has arrived at the War Dept. His corps were arrested and double-chained.

The Southern delegation has arrived at daylight yesterday morning. The Confederates took the train from the Union Depot to the pictures, and were received in the audience of the Federal and the Cross Roads.

Freight Lines.

Atlanta, September 5.—It is desired that the Union Committee should come from Lincoln in relation to Gen. Fremont's proclamation.

The War in Missouri.

Quincy, September 5.—The Confederates, two thousand strong, with two pieces of artillery, are now marching on St. Louis. The rebels are reported to be in full retreat.

General Beauregard.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

New York Democratic Convention.

Philadelphia, September 5.—On receiving the news of the Government's recognition of the Missouri delegation, the Missouri delegation was expelled from the Convention.

General Beauregard.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.

Charleston, September 5.—General Beauregard has telegraphed to his command that he is willing to give up his command.

Brigadier-General Hurst.