ARRIVAL OF THE ORIZABA.

The steamship Orizaba arrived yesterday morning from Vera Cruz, bringing dates from that place to the 7th, and from the city of Mexico to the 1st instant. The Orizaba brings the following specie consigned to various commercial houses:

From the arrival we received full files of Mexican papers. They present an almost inextricable web of perplexities. The revolution which proclaimed SANTA ANNA, is menaced by another revolution—the capital is at war with the interior—the army with the civil authorities—the only armies confronded ejects, and unless a great heart and sagacious mind prove the superior spirit to fuse these conflicting elements, compel their cohesion, anarchy may ensue.

Meanwhile we have an interesting letter from our correspondent, which, to some extent, gives the situation of affairs intelligible.

THE CANVASS.

Barbecue at Lafourche.

Sept. 8th, 1855.

Yesterday there was a grand gathering of the American party three miles above Thibodeaux. ... appointments had been invited, and a free dis- ... was the order of the day. I certainly did not look for so large an attendance, at all that has been one of the dark spots of the parish,—but, however, no longer, as a flood of political ... has rolled on therein. At 11 o'clock ... the meeting was called to order, and ... Hon. Charles Derbigny, the American can- ... for Governor, opened the proceedings ... a calm, argumentative exposition of the ... principles of the party. He spoke about an ... and was listened to with marked attention ... There seldom heard a more lucid, abler ... and more convincing discourse; or one which ... met more fully the objections alleged against ... reporter. It is needless to add that Mr. Der- ... bigny's speech was received with enthusiastic ... applause. Would to God he could visit every ... parish in the State. His venerable appearance, ... his high character, spotless honesty, and ... bible frankness would win for him the popular ... affection everywhere. Rest assured that here ... in Lafourche, we shall roll up a handsome ... majority. Treachery has done its worst, and ... the reaction is taking place with wonderful ... rapidity.

... Derbigny was followed by Louis Bush, ... mounted his bobby horse and bestrode the ... in his usual style. However, I ... inured to confess that Mr. Bush has considera- ... improved his time. He begins to see that ... hard words and abuse won't benefit his cause, ... he has accordingly adopted a more conciliatory ... He declared he did not believe that he was ... a Whig or rather American, as ever, and ... hating the religious question, he was with ... the party.

... Davigneaud of your city succeeded Mr. ... He is a special favorite of Lafourche. ... style of speaking is exceedingly agreeable. ... He is frank, ready, fluent, forcible, and ... pleasing. I can scarcely describe to ... the eloquence of sentiment elicited by the ... eloquence, his withering sarcasm, and his fer- ... and patriotic appeals. Suffice it, that he ... obtained a complete triumph, and added an- ... other laurel to his victorious brow.

The discussion was closed by Mr. Beasley, of Lafourche, on behalf of the Democracy. He would ... the best of a bad cause, but as no reasons for ... rackless in his assertions, as to provoke a current ... reprimand from Mr. Derbigny. Mr. Beasley has ... affirmed that the constitution of the American ... order contained an article disbarring Catholics ... from public office. Mr. Derbigny immediately ... rose, pronounced the assertion as false as it was ... many pledged his honor that it was false, and ... declared that those who propagated it, sought ... to disseminate slander and untruth. Mr. Beasley ... replied that he did not allude to the Parish of ... Louisiana, but said that from the silence of ... those attended to it elsewhere, when charged ... with proscribing Catholics, he inferred that ... such an article existed.

... affair went off very handsomely, and the ... good cause in daily gaining ground. Messrs. ... Derbigny and Davigneaud leave to-morrow for ... West Baton Rouge, where a barbecue and de- ... monstration are to take place on the 11th.

Yours, sincerely,

AN AMERICAN.

Flour at Norfolk.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 10.—The intelligence from Norfolk is very distressing, and the fever is still increasing. There were forty deaths on Friday and twenty five up to noon on Saturday. The fever is spreading into the surrounding country. The small pox has broken out. There were ten cases on Saturday.

Norfolk and Portsmouth.

We learn that in response to the request of the Norfolk committee, the President, after consultation with the Cabinet, has ordered an order to be issued to the commandant of the Gosport Navy Yard, giving him direction to advance a month's pay to the employees who wish to leave, and to close the yard if necessary; at the same time directing commandants of other navy yards to employ the refugees.

With regard to Fort Monroe, the President assigned as a reason for not granting the request, that there was no suitable place to remove the troops and companies, numbering 1,200 in all, and time would be required for preparation and removal.

He said the subject of relieving the sufferers had caused his early return from the Virginia Springs, and several Cabinet meetings had been called to consider it.

He gave the committee on behalf of the Cabinet $250, stating that he his own private resources were at their disposal.

The committee afterwards met at Brown's Hotel and appointed a sub committee to request the Howard Association of Norfolk and Mayor of Portsmouth to meet them at Hampton on Friday, to devise other means for removal and relief.

In reference to the condition of Norfolk, the American Organ publishes the following heart. rendike details:

In consequence of the absence of the country people from the market, the richest as well as the poorest citizens are wholly dependent on the Howard Association for their daily food. The whole population must therefore be sustained at the public expense.

The whole city is infected to such a degree that the most wealthy flinch blows off by it as easily be assisted at a considerable distance beyond the city limits.

All the Norfolk physicians, with two or three exceptions, are dead.

The scenes daily witnessed beggar description, and have had no parallel since the Plague of Athens as described by Thucydides, or the Plague of Florence as described by Boccacio. A gentleman related to me he had been unable to visit the house of a friend in Norfolk, Wm. Walch, for two or three days. When he called at the expiration of that time, he found Mrs. Whistle in bed with her child dying, and her remarkably unwilling unskilled in the house. In another room were lying, on the bare floor, three young persons, male and female, ill with the fever, and no one to care for them. His friend's wife, master and mistress came to remove them to the hospital. Before he could place them in the wagon the mistress was stolen and the young boy and her companions in suffering were compelled to lie on the bottom of the wagon, and when they reached the hospital to be placed on the floor again.

Many of the dead have been buried on the alleys of the city—of course increasing tenfold the danger of its sickness.

Nearly all the banks have lost a portion of their most valuable officers.

The widows and children of several of our most distinguished naval officers have, in their last moments, been utterly unattended.

A letter from Portsmouth, dated Sept. 6th, says:

"Among the dead are Messrs. Wm. B. Bingley, Robt. Tatem, Richard Williams, Mrs. Billhonorly, and Rev. Joseph. The disease is terribly on the increase!

We understand that Dr. Leon Gelbardt, of this city, died yesterday in Petersburg, of yellow fever.

It is stated that there were 60 deaths in Norfolk on the 3d inst. Collos are in great demand.

Dr. Gooch, of Richmond, was very sick, and not expected to recover.

Charles L. Eagle, Richmond, is highly complimented for his services on behalf of the sick.

Walter Brott, of this city, died at 12 o'clock on the 3d inst. Among his last requests, one was that he might be buried in Richmond.

Mr. Pike, of Richmond, was sick, also Mrs Wade, of Richmond. Wm. E. Cunningham, editor of the Beacon, is dead.

☞ It appears that by the accident on the Stonington Railroad mentioned yesterday, there were six or eight persons badly wound ed, though none were killed.

☞ We are in receipt of Salt Lake dates to the 1st August. Associate Justice W. W. Drummond and wife had arrived; also, Secretary Leland. Col. Burr, Dry, was soon prevailed, and the steamer was to take leave.

The prospects of the crops were very gloomy.

☞ The New York steamboat train via Stonington, was thrown off the track on the 3d, near Kingston, in consequence of the breaking of an axle. Several persons in the second-class cars were injured—all the other passengers escaped uninjured.

LOUISIANA ITEMS.

The two following items are taken from the Thibodaux Minerva:

CROPS.—It is the universal belief among all those with whom we have conversed on the subject, that the corn crop of the Lafourche parishes will be much longer this year than at any other period. The sugar crop though promising when due allowance is made for the bad stand and backwardness of the weather in the earlier part of the season, has experienced another very severe check in the very heavy wind and rain storm that passed over this portion of the State on Thursday and Friday, the 30th and 31st ult., prostrating at one fell sweep whole fields before it. The damage sustained from the storm, although considerable, is trifling when compared with that which would have been sustained at the public expense.

The whole city is infected to such a degree that the most wealthy flinch blows off by it as easily be assisted at a considerable distance beyond the city limits.

All the Norfolk physicians, with two or three exceptions, are dead.

The Late Railroad Disaster—Verdict of the Jurors.

BURLINGTON, Sept. 8.—The jury of inquest into the causes of the late railroad disaster rendered a verdict this morning at 1 o'clock, declaring "that the disaster was caused by running the cars head-ward, the locomotive being the coupling in motion with a jolt of several drives. Dr. Brownell, of Burlington, is considered as careless and reckless; that the engineer did not observe the rules of the company relative to shoeing the wheels to prevent sparks; that the engineer was not considered as having acted in accordance with the rules, but declare that the company should adopt some method of preventing the sparks from the shoeing of wheels, suggesting that the delivery of passengers to all cars be transferred from the saving of a few minutes."
