THE DAILY BEE, PUBLISHED AT
SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 26, 1854.
Terms per Annum,
DAILY PAPER, $10 00
SEMI-WEEKLY PAPER, 5 00
Single copies, 5 cents.
Postage on the Semi-Weekly paper, 52 cents per annum.

THE DAILY BEE.
SUNDAY MORNING, Nov. 26, 1854.
The Southern Mail closes this morning promptly at 8 o'clock.

EXACTNESS OF OUR CITY.

New Orleans is little given to puns, making and circulating them, but the following is the current conversation that sometimes occurs between a bank president and a bank director, when the monthly or quarterly statement is to be made out, and the latter is requested to call and sign it:

"Mr. President, I have called to see you about signing the monthly statement."

"Ah, yes, Mr. Director, I am glad you have called, as I wish to see you about signing the monthly statement."

"Well, Mr. President, I am willing to sign it, but I am afraid that the Board of Directors will not like it."

"Why, Mr. Director, I am afraid they will not like it either, but I am willing to sign it, if you are."

"Well, Mr. President, I am willing to sign it, if you are willing to sign it."

"Well, Mr. Director, I am willing to sign it, if you are willing to sign it