The hour has arrived which terminates our relained to the country, and our relained to the country, and our relained to each other, as members of the Thirtieth Congress; and you have already pronounced the word which pure an end at once to my recention and to your and to your and to your and to your section.

of interwell, to those with whom I have ben so long associated, and by whom I have been so highly honored.

Certainly, gentlemen, I should subject myself to a charge of great sugratitude, were I not to thank you for the Resolution in reference to my othicate services, which you have placed upon the records within a few bours past.

Such a resolution, I need not say, is the most precious testimonial which any presiding officer can receive, and affords the richtat remuteration for any labors which It may have cost.

It did not require, however, this formal tribute at your hands, to furnish me with an occasion of grateful acknowledgment to you all. I am deeply sensible, that no intentions, however honest, and no efforts, however variest, couch have carried the salely and successfully through with the duttes which have been imposed upon me, had I not been eccented and assistantly from this to last, by your hand co-operation and me, had I not been reconsided and assistanted, from first to last, by your kind co-operation and friendly forbearance.

They you, time, to receive my most hearty thanks, not increty for so generous an appreciation of my services, but for the uniform courtesy and considence which you have ministered towards medaring my whole official term, and by which you have done so much to thighten the labors and relieve the respiratoficities which are inseparable from the Chair of this Brouse.

I can honestly say, gentlemen, titas I have endeavored, to the beautiful print, to fulfill
