Many of the Mormons had gone to the southern part of the Territory, and the women and children were preparing to follow them.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The correspondent of the New York Herald says that it is generally believed that orders have been issued to the Home Squadron to prevent any further outrages on American vessels by British cruisers.

The Secretary of the Treasury invites proposals for $4,000,000 Treasury notes.—Open till 14th June.

ADDITIONAL BY THE NORTH AMERICAN.

A resolution endorsing the union of the Danubian provinces had been rejected by the House of Commons by a large majority.

England has made a formal demand on Naples for indemnity for the imprisonment of the Englishmen captured on board the Cagliari. It declares that King Ferdinand formally rejects the demands of the Cabinet of Turin.

We also learn that the first clause of the Sardinian Conspiracy bill, which proposes to punish as a crime any attempt made against the life of a foreign sovereign, has been adopted by the Legislative Chamber at Turin.

FURTHER BY THE VANDERBILT.

The bill for the admission of Jews into Parliament had been again rejected by the House of Lords, by a vote of 119 against 80. The London Times, in an article commenting upon the vote, says:

The government of Lord Derby has given another proof of its little sympathy with the House of Commons, by inducing the Lords to reject the clause in the Oaths bill which admits the Jews to sit in Parliament. It must be clear that there never was a more favorable opportunity for the settlement of this question, and that the opportunity has for the present been lost. For eleven years the Jews have contented themselves with hindering the discussion from being brought to a close; they have refused to allow a Jew who has been elected to take his seat, but they have never ventured to deny the right of a constituency to return him—they have never even brought the question before the House of Commons by a motion for a new writ for London. Therefore they must be considered as endeavoring merely to prolong the present anomalous state of things, to which the House of Commons, by increasing majorities, has vainly striven to put an end.

The following is the result of the elections in Paris:

In the 6th arrondissement, M. Jules Favre, the opposition candidate, has 11,316 votes; M. Perrot, the government candidate, 10,166.

In the 5th arrondissement, M. Picard (opposition) has 8500; M. Eck (government) 5973.

In the 3d arrondissement, M. Llonville (opposition) has 7329; General Perrot (government) 10,166.

The Paris Constitutionnel publishes an article in which the writer, Mr. Renee, says that the English government are right not to go on with the prosecution against Bernard. After the verdict on the capital question, a condemnation leading to a few months' imprisonment, and a fine of a few hundred francs, would, says Mr. Renee, have no sense.

A banquet has been tendered to the jury which tried and acquitted Dr. Bernard, but after consultation they declined the intended ovation.

The Court of Queen's Bench have refused an application made by Mr. James on behalf of Mr. Truelove, indicted for an alleged libel on the Emperor of the French, in his work called Tyrannicide, to have the trial expedited by being taken in the sittings after the pending term, instead of after Trinity term.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

Senate.—After the usual morning business, the consideration of the bill providing for the repeal of all laws granting bounties to the cod-fishery was resumed.

Mr. Fessenden argued against the expediency of the proposition, and replied to some of Mr. Clay's arguments as proceeded on the principle that the fishing bounties were granted only as an equivalent for duties imposed on salt. It then was the origin of the system as founded by the law of 1792. Mr. Fessenden held that by the act of 1813, and especially by that of 1819, it was understood that these bounties were granted with reference to the general interests of the navy, since they were granted at a time when the duty on salt was merely nominal. The effect of repealing this bounty could be inferred from the effects of the repeal passed in 1807, in consequence of which it paying, it is expected to annually declined in productiveness and value until, in 1811, the exports of cod were reduced to less than one-half their amount before the repeal. The question raised respecting the constitutionality of the bounties, he thought, did not present of any serious argument. Certainly it was constitutional to give bounties to fishermen who might one day be wanted in the navy, if it was constitutional to give bounties to soldiers when they enlisted in the army of the United States. Mr. F. then described minutely the life and habits of the New England fishermen, with the view of showing their capacity for effective service in case of war with any naval power.

Mr. Simmons, of Rhode Island, followed in some interesting observations on the politico-economical relations of the bounties, which, though small in amount, were effective in the results they insured, and composed a good investment for the country if it was desirable to retain in readiness a corps of able seamen to do naval service in time of war.

Mr. Benjamin avowed his determination to vote for the bill, on the ground that its passage could not materially affect the fishing interests of the country. If he thought that to repeal the bounties would be to destroy the fisheries he would be willing to continue the fostering care of the government.

After a few remarks by Mr. Collamer and Mr. Clay on the effect of the reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States in its relations to the fishing question, the further consideration of the subject was postponed until to-day, and the Senate proceeded, on a quarter before four o'clock, to hold an executive session.

House of Representatives.—In the House, a large number of communications were received from the Executive Departments calling for appropriations for various purposes; and four additional appropriation bills were reported from the Committee of Ways and Means. Monday and Tuesday of next week were set apart for the consideration of business in relation to the District of Columbia, and Friday next was set apart as an "objection day" for the consideration of private bills. All the Senate bills on the Speaker's table were disposed of either by reference to committees, or, in cases where there was no opposition, by being finally passed. The bill for the compensation of certain parties, for slaves carried away from the vicinity of Chesapeake Bay by the British fleet in 1813, was, after a brief debate, referred to the Committee of the Whole, upon the ruling of the Speaker that, as an appropriation bill, it must be first considered in committee. The bill to amend an act limiting the liability of ship-owners was considered, and the previous question ordered on its passage; pending which, shortly after 5 o'clock, the House adjourned.

News from Bermuda.

AN AMERICAN VESSEL SEIZED AT GRAND BAY.—We have received Hamilton (Bermuda) papers to the 26th ultimo, but they contain no news of interest.

The American brigantine Ella Reed Tuzo, master, from Liverpool, (England) out 53 days, with salt on freight, bound to Philadelphia, put into Grassy Bay (Bermuda) on the 24th ultimo for provisions and water, but was prevented from leaving port by a writ of attachment on the 25th instant, issued at suit of Joseph C. Yates, of the firm of Joseph C. Yates & Co., of Baltimore, against Messrs. Quiterbridge, Harvey & Co., of Philadelphia, the owners of the Ella Reed. The amount of the debt is said to be about $5000. An application was made on the 27th to release the vessel, on the ground of her being a chartered vessel and bound to deliver her cargo, she not being then the property of her owner, but of the charter party.

The Court, on the 29th, without giving any opinion as to the grounds for release, decided that it had no power to release the vessel after the attachment had been made, and before the case had been tried. The vessel was brought into the harbor part of the afternoon of that day by the Marshal's orders, where she now lies waiting the sitting of the Court to try the suit. The Captain and 191 Cadiz emigrants had also protested against all interference so far. This is the first case of the kind that has ever occurred in Bermuda.

FROM WASHINGTON.—Washington, May 10.—To-day at noon, the proposals for the issue of the treasury notes were opened by the Secretary of the Treasury. The total amount of the bids for the $5,000,000 worth of notes, in exchange for gold, amounted to upwards of $15,000,000. Four and a half million were taken at less than five per centum. Messrs. McKim & Co., of Baltimore, got $120,000.

The Senate, in executive session to-day, confirmed a large number of appointments, principally those made during the recess of Congress, including Marshals, District Attorneys, Land Officers and Postmasters. Those for New York and Philadelphia, and other places, have been sent in, amounting to nearly 300 in all, but they were not acted upon.

The Secretary of State has asked an appropriation of $20,000 to carry into effect the act for the admission of Kansas into the Union.

VESSEL SEIZED FOR DUES.—New York, May 10.—The brig Ella Reed, from Liverpool for Philadelphia, 53 days out, put into Bermuda on the 24th ult., where she was seized for debt by the agent of the firm of Messrs. Joseph Yates & Co., of Baltimore, against Messrs. Quiterbridge, Harvey & Co., of Philadelphia. She remains in custody of the Marshal there, awaiting judicial proceeding.

EXCURSION OF WESTERN LUMBER.—Detroit, May 8.—The brig Black Hawk, Capt. Taylor, sails from here this evening for Liverpool, England, direct, with a cargo of staves and lumber. Other vessels in the same trade are loading, and will soon sail.

Ed—We would call particular attention to McLean's notice in another column. We add the following from the St. Louis Medical Reporter, which needs no further comment:

"We take special pleasure in recommending McLean's celebrated Pitcher, Cheering Cordial as an invaluable remedy for general debility and weakness. We have seen it tested in a circle under our own immediate observation, and can vouch for its efficacy and worth. It is an article which should be kept constantly in every family, as it is certainly an invaluable medicine. See the advertisement in another column 19 for 3*aw* 4*dm*

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

BILLY BOWLEGS IN NEW ORLEANS.—This renowned Seminole Chief seems to be on a general bender while making his stay in this city. He is a great imbiber of spirits, to judge from the draughts which he gulped down yesterday, and, from all accounts, is a most unreasonable beggar. He is something over the medium stature, will weigh about 160 pounds, has a good sized head, a fine forehead, and a keen eye. He visited about the city pretty freely yesterday, frequenting the drinking saloons particularly, and grinding up with a grand tour from the True Delta office (where hundreds of the curious gathered around to have "their see") to the Museum of Vannucchi, on St. Charles street. We learn that the result was a great increase in Vannuchi's receipts, and that the worthy proprietor concluded that "he would like to engage Billy for the season." The latter, however, was not approached on the subject, and went away apparently highly delighted and little conscious of his importance. A half score of young gentlemen, who constituted themselves the especial cicerones of the valorous old Chieftain, (he is 60 years of age) were literally "drunked" in their endeavors to get Billy "boxy" with a view of having his daguerreotype taken. Among those who took commendable interest in showing him the novelties of New Orleans, was the worthy and enterprising reporter for the Associated Press, Col. Turner.

Billy has inherited the name of Bowlegs as a family nomen, and not a mere cognomen, his wailing members being quite straight.—We presume that his emigration West, under the auspices of our government, and the Indians of Arkansas, may be considered the closing chapter to his contentions against the United States forces in Florida—contentions which have cost our government millions on millions of dollars for near half a century, and which necessarily make Billy a great curiosity. "Sam Jones," said now to be 107 years of age, is the only hostile chieftain left to the Everglades. He still holds out with some 30 or 40 faithful warriors, who refuse to accede to any terms of pacification.

We learned from Billy Bowlegs's own lips, while he was at the Museum, that he killed over 100 men in one day with his own hand. The wasted representations of Gens. Scott and Taylor in the Museum attracted his especial admiration. "They were great men," he said; "fought him mighty hard." As for Gen. Harney, of whom a visitor reminded him, he said he "made him run like h—l, ha! ha!" He took quite a fancy to the waxen figure of Mrs. Cunningham's "blessed baby;" "twas his little son Willy," he said, and he evinced his begging propensity by asking for it—a request which Vannuchi had to deny. He was particularly earnest in his inquiries about Washington, and walked up close to the figure of the Father of His Country to examine it minutely. As he came out of the Museum, he was introduced to his Honor Mayor Waterman, and other prominent citizens.

The visit to the Museum being finished, he was escorted by his corps cicerones to the City Hotel, where he partook of a sumptuous dinner, prepared especially for his Majesty the "ex-King of the Everglades." Of this he partook with the most becoming zest, calling for "more plate" for every article with which he was presented, and observing the most marked punctilios of table etiquette throughout. We should add that he made quite a speech at the office of the True Delta, in which frequently occurred the words "much friendship," and which he terminated right heartily with the Indian war-whoop of his tribe, and his characteristic peroration, "Me drink to the paper." He is expected to take his departure for the West to-morrow, and in the meantime we presume he may be seen on the streets with his best looking wife this morning. We shall mark his proceedings with interest.

THE VOLKSFREUND.—A shower yesterday interfered with the festivities of our German fellow citizens. The grand volksfest, however, was duly terminated, and, we are glad to add, without any fatal occurrences in the way of accidents. A man who was shooting at a target on Sunday discharged the ball of his gun through his hand. He was also slightly hurt, in connection with a couple of bystanders, by the ignition of a keg of powder from the wadding of his rifle. A woman with a child in her arms was knocked down and slightly hurt by the feet of a horse, before which she was attempting to pass.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.—The body convened for its tenth day's sitting yesterday, and a night session was had which lasted till near ten o'clock.

Business transacted was the election of Dr. Joseph B. Stratton, of Natchez, Miss., to the Professorship of Danville Seminary, Kentucky, and the disposition of the case of Rev. Wm. Findley, of New Jersey, appealing from the action of his church in discharging him from their pastoral service.

Rev. Dr. Hoge and others spoke in favor of sustaining the action of the Presbytery of Elizabethtown, and Rev. Dr. Breckinridge in support of the appeal taken by Mr. Findley. The vote was finally taken on the matter with this result:

For sustaining the appeal	34
For partly sustaining it	24
Against the appeal	30

The appeal was accordingly declared to be duly sustained, and the Assembly adjourned to meet again this morning.

SUIT FOR SLANDER.—The case of Annette Desarzant, of this city, claiming $10,000 damages for slander, has been fixed for trial on the 30th inst. before Judge Duvigneaud, of the Third District Court. The petitioner alleges that she is a free woman of white person, born and baptized in New Orleans; that she is the daughter of Jean Desarzant, of Switzerland, and Marie Louise Lainez, both deceased; that her parents, who were of pure Caucasian descent, died when she was an infant, and left her to the care of Jean Lainez, who placed her with Mrs. Cunningham's "blessed baby;" "twas his little son Willy," he said, and he evinced his begging propensity by asking for it—a request which Vannuchi had to deny. He was particularly earnest in his inquiries about Washington, and walked up close to the figure of the Father of His Country to examine it minutely. C. Rosellus, Esq., is counsel for petitioner.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—Hon. T. G. Hunt.—Frederick G. Stringer, Jr., and Wm. P. Riley, charged with embezzlement of the funds of the Bank of New Orleans, were called for trial yesterday, but on account of the absence of witnesses their case was continued till the 31st inst.

A suit prompted was entered in behalf of Thomas Tracy, indicted on a charge of maliciously firing a mansion.

RECORDER SMITH'S COURT.—Robert Devine, arrested with brass knuckles and a revolver in his possession, was yesterday committed to the First District Court for trial for carrying concealed weapons—bail $500.

John Roberson was sent for trial also, for the crime of stabbing Mr. Jno. Hagerty, of Missouri, smuggled his passage to this city on board of the brig Alma, from Kaskaskia. Mr. Hagerty, while at Key West with his master, and not relishing the idea that the latter had sold him, he escaped to Nassau, where the negress, as he had always heard, were the aristocracy of the place. There he became dissatisfied, and hearing that his master had not sold him, he smuggled himself on board the Alma, and was being detected, declared his intention and the circumstances of his case. He was handed over by the Captain of the Alma to the police of the Third District, and was yesterday given in charge of Mr. Hagerty's agent in this city, upon making proper showing before the Recorder. The case is a case for the negrophobists.

Thomas Morgan was sent to prison to await hearing on a charge of having stabbed James Farr, on board of the steamship Pocahontas, on the night of the 30th ult. Farr died on Saturday, both being blinds on board.

Mary Ann Lewis was sent to prison on a charge of larceny, $10 and $4 in specie and bills being found on her person.

RECORDER ADAMS'S COURT.—Andrew Muse, V. H. Prentiss, arrested on a charge of having stolen a lot of silverware from Mr. Douglas West was examined, yesterday, and sentenced to six months in the Workhouse.

SUPPOSED SLAVE-STEALING.—J. F. Leydon was arrested in this city yesterday, and held for examination before Recorder Smith, on a charge of having in his possession a slave, named Bob, belonging to Mrs. Bell, and supposed to have been stolen from Clinton, Miss.

The petitioner alleges that she is a free woman of white person, born and baptized in New Orleans; that she is the daughter of Jean Desarzant, of Switzerland, and Marie Louise Lainez, both deceased; that her parents, who were of pure Caucasian descent, died when she was an infant, and left her to the care of Jean Lainez, who placed her with Mrs. Cunningham's "blessed baby;" whom she was raised; that one Pierre Leblanc, and his wife, Eglantine Desmaillier, took her from the house where she had been raised, and destroying her status in society, have falsely and maliciously slandered her by falsely asserting that she was a colored person and descended from negro parents; wherefore, and because of the defendants having destroyed her work of slander and defamation of her character, she claims damages, which she alleges she has suffered, to the extent of $10,000. C. Rosellus, Esq., is counsel for petitioner.
