The Democracy and Slavery.

The men who foresaw that Locofocoism at the North is prepared to surrender the Wilmot Proviso at the bidding of the Southern wing of the party, will find himself egregiously mistaken. The New York politicians on the Democratic side are suddenly engaged in the effort to commit the party irretrievably to the anti-slavery doctrines. One of the most influential of their organs, the Globe, quotes numerous articles from leading papers of the same party at the North, on the subject of the great question at issue respecting the introduction of new territory into the Union, and the admission of slavery in connection therewith. The union and harmony of the party are considered in view of this question, which threatens so seriously to disturb it. The Globe, in the course of one of its articles speaks as follows:

"We frankly confess that we see no hope of union, unless the Southern Democracy will abandon their ridiculous unconstitutional platform. Whoever denies that the Democracy of the North will abandon the free territory principle, is certainly mistaken. Let the Democratic delegates to the National Convention are rejected upon the ground of their free territory principles, there is no doubt, that the Democratic party should succeed in 1848, but very prospect they there will. In that case there will be a grand revolution in parties, and no man can say what the immediate result may be, but in the end all will be right—true Democracy will lose nothing by the revolution, it will shine brighter than ever. Let us not be alarmed at the moving of the political elements, we are inclined to believe that a revolution cannot be long postponed. If the regime of the political elements is destroyed, as is certain to occur for the Democracy in 1848, the consequence will be any—must come from the slave power. Freedom will make no more concessions in order to keep what is called Democracy in power."

Southern Locofocoism, it seems, is threatened with the loss of Northern votes, unless it abandons what the Globe terms "its ridiculous unconstitutional platform." In other words, unless it consents to accept the Wilmot Proviso, and to submit into the Baltimore Convention those delegates from New York who were appointed by the Barnburners, with especial reference to their determined hostility to slavery, and in opposition to the Old Hunker delegates, who dodged the question. We shall see whether the Democracy of the South is willing, for the sake of uniting the discordant factions of the party, to submit to the dictation of the open abolitionists, which compose its Northern branch.

The Globe, in another article, is yet more direct and explicit. It says:

"We would rather see the Democratic party defeated in every contest, for the next quarter of a century, than to succeed—if success were possible—by uniting with the slaveocracy in extending the domination of slavery to free territory. Let slavery remain where it is, and if the people of the slave states are ready to emancipate their slaves; but in the name of liberty, equality and justice, let it not be spread over the face of the earth, or over territory acquired from Mexico. Do not let the accursed institution be planted on a free soil on which our children, and children's children, are to find a home."

In view of the perplexities and embarrassments which environ Locofocoism, we would cordially suggest to the party the necessity of setting its own house in order, ere it proceeds to crowd at the seemed confusion that prevails among the Whigs. The differences that separate our opponents seem to be absolutely irreconcilable. We cannot conceive how Southern Democracy can possibly tolerate the arrogant dictation and dangerous doctrines of its Northern brethren; nor is it easy to imagine by what possible process the latter can be persuaded into the abandonment of the position they have taken. The deliberate language of their organ quoted above, forbids the supposition. As, however, the Globe and its faction would infinitely prefer seeing the Democratic party defeated for a quarter of a century, than behold the triumph of Southern Locofocoism, we think it as we may venture to predict that one of their wishes will be gratified. The Democratic party will be defeated, the particular wing of the Democracy to which the Globe is attached, are doing their best to bring about that exceedingly desirable consummation.

THE COURRIER DES ETATS UNIS.—This able and widely circulated organ of the French-American population of New York, comes to us under the editorial auspices of PAUL ARRIN, late the principal proprietor. To the citizens of New Orleans we need scarcely say who Mr. ARRIN is. During his connection with this paper, embracing a period of eight years, he attained a very high reputation as a philosophical thinker, and an accomplished writer. His views, acquisitions are very extensive, his taste and knowledge remarkable, his style faultlessly pure, his polemic ripe, his discrimination and critical acumen precise and keen. In the qualities of readiness, vigor, clearness and command of his subject, he yields to few writers for the press in this country. We are fully persuaded that under his capable and energetic management, the Courrier des Etats Unis will fully maintain the popularity and reputation which it acquired under the direction of his predecessor.

Mr. ARRIN is a Republican in feeling, and an American by adoption. Whatever may be his sympathies for his native country, they can never lead him to depreciate or disparage that with which he has voluntarily identified himself by the sacred tie of naturalization. The American readers of his paper may, therefore, entertain perfect confidence that while the Courrier des Etats Unis continues the organ of the French residents of our country, it will, under no circumstances, become a vehicle for the calumny and continually too often lavished on us by aliens who derive from us a subsistence which they repay by the foulest libels.

Congressional.

In the SENATE, on the 14th, Mr. Badger moved to take up the bill defining the franking privilege, which was agreed to. The bill was then read a third time and passed unanimously.

Mr. Hall, from the Committee on Pensions, reported a bill, amending the naval pension law.

Mr. Mangum moved to reconsider the vote of Friday, rejecting the bill relating to the Judges of the Supreme Court, which was agreed to and the bill was made the order of the day for Monday.

The Senate then laid aside the morning business in order to take up, as in Committee of the Whole, the California claim bill.

Mr. Fitch spoke ably in support of the bill, defending the war.

An amendment was offered providing for the appointment of two commissioners by and with the advice of the Senate. Before the question was taken, on motion of Mr. Mangum, the Senate went into Executive session, and then adjourned.

In the HOUSE, Mr Bott moved that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole on the foreign mail bill, and, after considerable debate, it was postponed.

The revolutionary pension bill was next considered and discussed without any definite action thereon. The other business of the House was unimportant.

SOUTHERN UNION.—The Washington Correspondent of the Charleston Courier writes as follows:

"A torch light procession, in honor of the French Revolution, is to take place here on the night of the 18th, and the President and Vice President of the United States figure in the programme, with four torches. We shall see whether they will appear or not in the procession, and will be a night to see them there, and if they do not appear, it may chance that their windows will be broken by the republicans.—The idea has become prevalent that the administration have seized upon the French Revolution as a source of capital for the next election; and the latter, every follower and exponent of the ultra naturalism, as disposed to make as much noise as possible about their sympathy. It is one of those cases to which the Democratic party will be subject, with the exception of Calhoun like the Clintons, whether the people

DINNER TO GEN. TWIGGS.—The Augusta (Ga.) Sentinel says:

The entertainment given to General Twiggs on Thursday evening was a splendid affair, whether we regard it for the respectability and number of those who so patronized, or the excellence of the viands prepared by that most successful caterer, on such occasions, mine host of the Globe Hotel.

About one hundred and fifty gentlemen sat down to the dinner, over which his honor, the Mayor, presided, assisted by several Vice Presidents. The cloth having been removed, Mayor Gardner rose and proceed to toast of the distinguished Guest with a neat and appropriate address, in which reference was made in chaste and eloquent terms to his services in the cause of his country—to which Gen. Twiggs replied by thanking the citizens of Augusta, in behalf of the Second Division of the Army, which he had the honor to command, and for himself, for the distinguished consideration which had been shown him during his short visit, and concluded by offering a sentiment.

The evening's entertainment was protracted to a late hour, during which the company were regaled with many gems of sentiment and song, to which we may hereafter refer more in detail, when we have space.

MR. KING'S EULOGY UPON MR. ADAMS was delivered a few evenings since, at Elizabethtown, by appointment of the corporate authorities, and before a large audience. We quote one striking passage from a full report of the address in the Newark Daily Advertiser:

What John Quincy Adams was, in character and attainments and capacity, others, with like singleness of purpose, labor, and devotion, may become; for he was emphatically the creature of education.

The natural faculties of Mr. Adams were not superior to those of thousands of others. Of quick, high, rare, and almost indefinable genius he had little. But with an intellect naturally strong and quick, with a capacity for labor and firmness of purpose which so many possess without giving to them the right direction, the events of his early life and the enlightened care of a mother, rendered him a reasoning and thinking being at an age when others are mere sentient creatures.

While yet a boy, as his father wrote, he was a hero and a patriot, and thrown, at the most impressible age, into the society of Franklin and other sages, he soon learned the value of knowledge, and was not slow to obtain it, even where in no royal road; but that for all, labor, diligence, and unwearied application, are indispensable in order to its attainment.

In his personal habits and intercourse, the utmost simplicity prevailed. He was a hard student even to his last hour, and in all situations, Vice President of the United States, he was probably the first man up in Washington, lighted his own fire, and was hard at work in his library, while sleep yet held in its oblivionatives the great mass of his fellow citizens.

LATEST ACCOUNT OF THE EXPEDITION TO THE DEAD SEA, UNDER THE COMMAND OF LIEUT. LYNCH.—We have received intelligence from Constantinople, with journals, to the date of March 4th, by which we are enabled to give to our readers some account of the expedition to the Dead Sea, which has created so much talk in various circles. It appears that the expedition arrived in the Dardanelles in the latter end of February; and on Saturday, the 26th, Lieut. Lynch, accompanied by his officers, and the chief interpreter of the expedition, proceeded to the Imperial Palace of Tchergan, where he was presented to the Sultan. The Sultan received him with great kindness and attention, and asked a great many questions in relation to the objects of the expedition. Lieut. Lynch presented the Sultan with several valuable American works, two of them upon the North

John Duffy alias John Connolly was brought up before Recorder Brady, charged with assaulting and striking Mary Ann Mood E. R. with intent to kill her. After a careful investigation of the case, the accused was committed for trial to the First District Court.

George Duncan, charged with assault and battery, on the person of a woman named Maria Wilhmore, was bound over in the sum of $500 to appear before the First District Court.

RECORDER SEUZENEAU.—The case of William Thompson, charged by Mr. Frederick Berry, with picking the complainant's pocket, was yesterday thoroughly investigated before Recorder Seuzeneau, who committed the accused for trial before the First District Court. The circumstances are as follows: On the morning of the 15th inst., Mr. Berry, recently arriving from Frenchman street, between Moreau and Victory street, when the prisoner came behind him and picked from his pocket a purse containing about six dollars.

INQUEST.—Coroner Spedden held yesterday an inquest on the body of a black man named Adams, slave of Mr. Alphonse Camus, found dead in the village of Tunnisburg, about two miles and a half from Algiers, on the right bank of the river. On a post mortem examination, the jury rendered the following verdict: "That he died from the effects of a gun shot wound, inflicted with buckshot, some of the buckshots having passed through both lungs and liver.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning about ten o'clock a drayman named Patrick Farrell, while unloading his dray, which contained several barrels of whiskey, opposite the Red stores, Third Municipality, had his left leg most horribly crushed, by the falling of one of the barrels. Amputation will, perhaps, be necessary.

THE MAIMING CASE.—The case of Richard Burns alias Cheepe, was yesterday thoroughly investigated before Recorder Ramos. It will be recollected, that some time ago, Cheepe and George Trainer got into a quarrel in Hospital street, between Conde and Gallatin, and that in the affray which ensued, the accused bit off a piece of his adversary's nose. The latter is now lying dangerously ill from the effects of this bite. After attentively listening to the various evidence in this case, Recorder Ramos committed Burns for trial before the First District Court, and fixed the amount of bail at $1,000.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

MAYORALTY OF NEW ORLEANS, }
April 14th, 1848.

To the Honorable President and Members of the Council of Municipality No. 3.

Gentlemen,—I have thought advisable to cause a meeting of your honorable body to be convened on this day, at 6 o'clock P. M., with a view to recommend to the Council the appointment of committees to confer with those already appointed by the other Municipalities, for the purpose of providing suitable arrangements for the reception of Major General Winfield Scott, whose arrival in New Orleans, is shortly expected. It would be superfluous for me to entertain you upon the important services rendered our common country by that gallant officer, his noble and patriotic deeds, which have won for him the grateful affection of the American people, and render unnecessary any eulogy to enhance their value. What course is to be pursued for the reception of that distinguished Citizen, your own judgement and patriotism will suggest. I have but to say, that my hearty concurrence will be cheerfully given to any suitable action taken upon the subject.

I am respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
[Signed] A. D. CROSSMAN, Mayor.

Bernard, Esq., late Chairman of a special committee of conference, appointed in connection with a similar committee from the First Municipality in relation to the opening and extension of Esplanade street, the result of said interview in substance is, as follows: That after several conferences and duly considering the value of the improvements, &c. on the property of said Mad. Castanedo that is necessary to remove for the opening of said street, it was finally agreed that the sum of twelve thousand dollars would be a just compensation to the said Mad. Castanedo, for the loss to her, of said improvements, together with the sufficient quantity of ground required for the opening of said street, one half of said sum to be paid by Municipality No. 1, but in view of the increased value given to that portion of the property situated in the Third Municipality by the opening of said street, Mad. Castanedo, agrees to reduce the amount fifteen hundred dollars, leaving the sum of four thousand five hundred dollars, the amount of the legal appropriation, the appellants appointed by law on the following terms: The sum to be in four equal installments, at six, twelve, eighteen and twenty-four months in notes of this Municipality, bearing interest at seven per cent per annum.

Be it further resolved, That the Treasurer create a special sinking fund out of any moneys, or revenue not otherwise appropriated for the exclusive payment of the several notes above mentioned.

Be it further resolved, That said Mad. Castanedo be allowed ——— days to vacate her premises and that the surveyor be requested to furnish to this Council again of the contemplated opening and extension of Esplanade street, and to cause the same to be opened as soon as practicable.

FIRE.—A fire broke out yesterday morning, at about one o'clock, in the building situated at the corner of Camp and Common streets, the upper story of which was occupied by the Native American Printing Office. The lower story is occupied by Horace Bean & Co. Our firemen were promptly on the spot, and prevented the fire from doing much damage. It is supposed to have been incendiary.

FIFTH DISTRICT COURT.—The case of Henry Klopenberg vs. B. L. Munn and Witherell, was yesterday decided in the Court in favor of plaintiff. We give below a copy of the reasons for judgment. The defendants have attempted to establish, by the evidence of McChesney that he, McChesney, and not defendant, were the agents of plaintiff in selling his tallow. But that evidence is inconsistent with the allegation of the answer in the cause, which are, that the tallow in question, was sold by defendants as commission merchants. Besides it is proved by Mr. Charelman, who purchased the tallow, that he knew nobody but the defendants in the transaction. In addition to which, Kirchenall swears that plaintiff dealt with defendants, and only knew McChesney as the clerk, or man of business of defendants. Mr. Addicks, who presented the bill of plaintiff to defendants, proves an implied acknowledgment of their liability to pay the same. From the evidence of Charchman, the purchaser of the tallow, and a witness of defendants, it appears that he paid $1300, a sum more than sufficient to discharge this bill to Munn and Witherill, after the sale of this tallow." It is true that he was at the time of payment, indebted to Munn and Witherill, $2300, including the tallow; but I see no reason why the defendants should thrust upon plaintiff the consequences of Charchman's insolvency, in fact suppress of other goods sold by themselves to that individual. I consider the allegations of the petition sustained by the evidence.

Judgment in favor of plaintiff against defendants in solido, for $900 31c, with interest from judicial demand, February 14th, 1848, and costs.
