[COMMUNICATED.] "Cain."-This celebrated Painting by David, one of the most distinguished artists of this or amy former age, is now exhibiting in our City. It is one of the most powerful efforts of the pencil: in richness of coloring, boldness of conception, and elaborate finish, it is not surpassed by any painting which we have ever seen. No one almost unrivalled, without mingled feelings of astenishment and pleasure. It is to be hoped that our citizens generally, will avail themselves of the opportunity now offered, to witness how nearly the painter's art can vie with nature. AMATEURS.

In of the great work of internal improvements by means of roads and canals; "No objects with factured by the morocco dressers; 13,000, 9 dolmounts or roses and casas; Avo objects with lactured by the motocon dressers; 10,000, 8 dozen of sheep in the circle of political economy so richly repay lars per dozen, 117,000 dollars; dozen of sheep the expense bestowed upon them; there are none, skins, 28,000, 5 dollars per dozen, 130, dollars. the utility of which is more universally ascer- Tutal, 2,905,750 dollars. tained and acknowledged; none that do more honor to the governments whose wise and enlarged patrictism duly appreciates them. Nor is there any country which presents a field, where nature invites more the art of man, to complete her own work for his accommodation and benefit. These considerations are strengthened, moreover, by the political effects of their facilities for inter-communication, in bringing and binding more closely together the various parts of our extended confederacy. Whilst the States individ-ually, with a landable enterprise and emulation, avail themselves of their local advantages, by new roads, by navigable canals, and by improving the streams susceptible of navigation, the general government is the more urged to similar undertakings, requiring a national jurisdiction and national metas, by the prospect of thus systemstically completing so inestimable a work." Such were the opinions of Jefferson and Madison in relation to internal improvements; Mr. Monroe and Mr. Adams were no less favorable to the system, when the public debt was of infinitely greater magnitude than at present. It has been reserved to the present administration to put its veto upon a plan of improvement which, if carried into execution, would be productive of immense advantages, by facilitating the intercourse between the different parts of this widely extended republic. Let the friends of internal improvements look to this matter.

Which statement is as nearly correct as it has been practicable to make it. A summary of other manufactures, from the state census of 1825, is given

Cotton.—There are at present in this state 86 Cotton manufactories, which may be estimated to contain on an average 1500 spindlers each, total, 132,000 spindles. It is salculated each spindle will spin 50 lbs. of cotton annually, making 6,600,000 lbs, of cotton consumed by the manufactories in this state, equal to 22,000 bales —annual value of cotton goods manufactured considerably exceeding 3,000,000 dollars.

Wool .- The number of woolen manufactories in this state, it will be seen by the table, is 208, can witness this grand production of a genius, exclusive of a large number employed in custom wool manufactured at these establishments, but averaging the amount or goods made at each at because I will not prove traitor to my piedges, 15,000 dollars, the total value of woollens mannfactured annually in this state, exclusive of those made in families, 'is over 3,000,000 dol-

Hats.—The amount of worl and fur hats manufactured and finished in this state, may be stated at 3,000,000 dollars annually.

Boots and Shoes .- We have no accurate date by which we can estimate the total annual value of the boots and shoes made in this state, but it will doubtless exceed 5,000,000 dollars, in addition to the large quantities brought into the state and sold, manufactured in the eastern states and

New Jersey.

Leather.—The amount of sole leather manufactured in this state annually is as follows: - At 30 tanneries in Green county, 279,000 sides 3 dollars per side, 837,000 dollars: 5 do; in Delaware, 53,000 sides, $3 per do, 159,000 do, 8 do. in Ulster, 50,000 sides $3 per do, 150.080 dollars. The above is nearly all tanned on occount of dealers in the city of New York, and sent

Window Glass .- The principal manufactories are located as follows: I in Ulster county; 2 in Madison; 1 in Wayne; 3 in Oneids: 2 in Ontario. Producing on an average, about 9000 boxes each, per annum; value at least 200,000

Domestic articles, Manufactured in Fumi lice. -By the state census of 1825, see page 36, the following woolen, linnen and cotton cloths, were made in families the year proceding. 2, 918,233 yards fulled cloth, I dollar per yard, 2, 918,238 dollars; 3,468,001 yards flamel and other woollens, not fulled, 20 cents per yard, 693,600 dollars; 8.079,992 yards lin and other cloths, 15 cents per yard, 1,211,998 dollars. Total, 4:823,831 dollars.

If to the above were added, breweries, oil mills, fulling mills, carpet manufactures, calico printing, flour mills, brass and bell foundries, salt at Salina, &c. gunpowder, wire manufac tures, &c. &c. &c. the amounts produced by our lown labor, would exceed the belief of any one not conversant with statistical calculations and Brig Gen Van Schulten, Reed, St Thomas,

They were unsparing in their censure skainst the former administration for having procured no appropriations for the benefit of the West in general, and Kentucky in particular. A Western President, they told the people would be mindful of Western interests: and in the event of General Jackson's election, the navigation of all our rivers was to be impro ved as well as our roads; and many other mings were to be done under the head of "Retrenchment and Reform, 'too tedious to be mentioned.
