FUTURE OF SPAIN.

Interesting Views of a Prominent Spaniard, Senor Castelar.

Says It Will Always Remain a Monarchy - Predicts Upheaval in France-Thinks Queen Regent Should Abdicate.

In an interview with a member of a foreign legation in Madrid, transmitted to the representative of the same country in Washington, Senor Castelar gives some interesting information about the inner politics of Spain and makes several remarkable predictions concerning the future of Europe, especially of France.

"I feel the disgrace of Spain as keenly as though it had fallen on my individual household," he said. "I weep for her, but without avail. When I stood by the corpse of Canevas I said that his best friend was Angiollo, who in killing him delivered him from the overwhelming disgraces which had fallen upon him. It may be the same with Spain.

"Bpain," he said, "will never be aught else than a monarchy." He repeated the statement made by him to Ruiz Zorilia. that the revolution of 1869 was the last revolution Spain would see; that to-day the monarchical form of government, which recognized the freedom of the press and individual liberties and right, offered all that the people sould demand, and it would be foolish to dream of revolution.

"The Spaniards to-day," he said, "are monarchists. Michelet told me that in the time of the second French republic there were more people in France who believed in the empire than there were supporters of the republic. The general elections in France indicate much the same feeling to-day, and I believe, in spite of the apparent solidity of the French republic, that that country yet will be the theater of a great

'It would be foolish for Spain to enter into any agreement with Germany regarding her eastern possessions. The Germans readily would interfere, but it would b enhance their own greedy interests, and not in any way to aid Spain. Their interests in Manila are counter to ours. We can have confidence in none but God; expect help only from Providence."

Speaking of his recent attack on the queen regent, in La Petite Revue of Paris, Senor Castelar said that the ideas expressed by him in that article were in accordance with others which would follow. "The abdication of the queen regent now," he said. "is the first necessity. I wanted to make some personally complimentary observations concerning the queen regent in the article, for apart from politics I have only the bighest esteem for her, but I did not, because it would have lessened the force of what I had to

TAX ON MARRIAGES.

Milwaukee Minister Must Affix a Revenue Stamp to Every Certificate.

Does a man help to pay for the war with Spain if he gets married? This is a problem which is puzzling the revenue department and Registrar of Vital Statistics Coon at Milwaukee and Revenue Collector Henry Fink to a standstill, its flooring in the cenholds that he does.

Mr. Coon's window hold that he does en and children fell over each other not. The new law does not specifical- trying to escape the flames. ly mention marriage certificates as being taxable, but after enumerating just been concluded, and there was the documents and certificates that must bear the revenue stamps it states in general terms that "Certificates of any other description required by law and not otherwise specified in this act shall have affixed thereto a ten-cent .stamp." Collector Fink says that there is no doubt that this includes marriage certificates.

None of the ministers or magistrates in the city who have performed the ceremony since July 1 have affixed stamps to any of the certificates which they have issued. At least none of them have appeared at the revenue. office asking for stamps, and no certificates with stamps have been filed with the registrar of vital statistics.

It is claimed that if necessary to compel the ministers to comply with the law that a special deputy will be appointed to investigate the marriage business, and to see that every minister has a sufficient supply of revenue stamps and affixes them to the certificates.

A GUNNER'S STORY.

Recounts the Part the Indiana Took in Battle Off Santiago-Heiped Sink the Viscaya.

August Keller, one of the gunners aboard the battleship Indiana, has written to his brother Charles in Newark, N. J., a letter which throws more light on the battle which resulted in the destruction of Cervera's squadron. According to the young gunner, the Indiana played a leading part in the fray. He says that the fight lasted two hours, and that the Indiana whipped ship between the two peoples. 'Don't the Vizcaya and the two torpedo boats Furor and Pluton.

One of the Indiana's 13-inch "railroad trains" went clear through one of the torpedo boats, exploding instantly | just as fine as the 'Kiss me, Hardy,' of afterward and sending the boat to the the dying Nelson." bottom.

Toward the end of the battle, when the Vizcaya was all but vanquished, the ters in his turret got together and coratched on one of the shells in big leters this inscription: "Remember the Maine!"

The shell was run into the breach and the gun carefully sighted. Every marine held his breath as the langard was pulled.

A, tremendous cheer rang out as the great projectile crashed into the stern of the Vizcaya, tearing it to pieces and setting the vessel on fire.

Keller says the Indiana's crew took on board more than 300 prisoners, most of them badly wounded and nearly all stained with blood.

INDIANS TO ACT AS NURSES.

Father Craft and Five Nuns Volume teer for Service in the Army in Cuba.

Probably the first instance in the United States where persons of Indian blood have volunteered to go to the front during the present war and administer to the wants of the wounded has developed in the locality of Chamberlain, S. D.

Father Craft, chaplain of the Congregation of American Sisters, with five members of that order, all of Indian blood, are waiting at Fort Pierre for transportation to Cuba, for which they applied to the war department some time ago.

It is their intention, if permission can be obtained, to go at once to the front and care for the wounded soldiers on the battlefields of the island. For this they are all eminently fitted.

Father Craft was educated as a physician and is a man of unquestionable courage. At the battle of Wounded Knee Creek during the last Sioux war he was in the thickest of the fight and saved the lives of several men who would have bled to death had it not been for the prompt medical assistance rendered by him. In the fight he was wounded six times, three times severely, but continued his work until all the wounded soldiers had been taken to the hospital or otherwise cared for.

Father Craft has had an eventful career. He served throughout the "Ten! Years' war" as a Cuban officer, entering the Cuban army as a captain of artillery. He gradually rose to the rank of general, which rank he held at the close of the war. He is, therefore, well acquainted with Cuba and the work that would naturally fall to the lot of his party.

The five sisters, being of Indian blood, are accustomed to lives of hardship and privation and would unquestionably be able to render more effective assistance than any other female nurses now in the field

FIRE IN A TROLLEY CAR.

Exciting Time on the Streets of New York City-Hose Turned on the Inquisitive Crowds.

Fire caused a panic among the men, women and children in trolley car No. 542 of the Madison avenue line at the northeast corner of Eightieth street, New York city, a few minutes after six o'clock the other night. A large crowd gothered and the firemen, to clear their way to the blaze, turned their fire extinguishers upon the lines of people.

The car, north-bound, was crowded. Several passengers had noticed smoke as of burning rags. But the car sped along, and they, believing the cause of the odor to be far away, paid little attention to it. But as the car arrived at Eightieth street somebody yelled "Fire!" A moment later the car was brought ter ablaze. Every passenger tried to The clergymen who storm around jump to the street at once. Men, wom-The concert in Central park had a stream of people pouring from the Seventy-ninth street gateway. The advance guard of music lovers, seeing the smoke and the burning car, ran to aid the frightened passengers. In a few moments several thousand persons, all shouting, were surrounding the car. Somebody rang a fire salarm. Policemen Lederman and Skully, of the East Eighty-eight street station, had forced their way through the crowd and were trying to restore order when the fire engines and trucks arrived, the horses galloping. But the crowd blocked their way until streams from the "extinguishers" carried by the firemen were turned toward the fire and upon the people. Once alongside the car the firemen conquered the flames in short order.

PRAISE AMERICAN NAVY.

English Newspapers Pay Glowing Tributes to the Success of Our Ships Against Spain's Fleet.

The London weekly newspapers, in discussing the war, all pay glowing tributes to the American navy. Even the Saturday Review says:

"It is impossible not to feel a certain pride in these achievements of men of our own race. Every Englishman, too, will remember that it was the possession of this same quality, the fine marksmanship, which the Americans displayed which gave us victories both on land and on sea, from Creey to the Crimea, and something peculiar and noble happened in this fight which showed in a far higher way the kincheer,' shouted Capt. Efforts Looking to Formation of National Organization of Iron and Steel Firms.

The New York Tribune says: The Iron league, which is composed of most of the principal firms in this city engaged in the manufacture and erection of architectural iron and steel work, is forming a national organization, into which it is proposed to take all the large firms in the principal cities.

This move is viewed with apprehension by the housesmiths' and bridgesmiths' unions. These are the men who put up the iron and steel frames of i tall buildings.

THE SALE OF STAMPS

Circular of Instructions Issued to All Collectors.

Efforts to Remove All Cause of Complaints of insufficient supply-To Prevent Sales for Speculative Purposes.

The commissioner of internal revenue has issued the following circular to all collectors regarding the sale of internal revenue stamps:

In view of the large number of stamps that have been placed in the hands of collectors, the continued complaints of insufficient supply received from taxpayers indicate that such stamps are being bound up for speculative purposes in some instances, and in others that there has been a superabundance of precaution to secure an ample supply.

Collectors should exercise great care in selling adhesive stamps, to make sure that a fair distribution of the stamps needed by the taxpayers is not prevented by either cause above indicated.

In no case should the purchasers be permitted to take more than a week's supply, and where the purchaser is located near the collector's office only a supply sufficient for two or three days should be sold.

Complaints reach this office that in some instances collectors and deputies have refused to sell less than an entire sheet of adhesive stamps to a purchaser. This practice must be discontinued, as tax-paying purchasers must be supplied with what they may need.

Inquiries are received in regard to agencies for the sale of these stamps by postmasters, banks, etc. In all such cases they have been referred to the collectors of their respective districts, who should advise them that they can procure the stamps at a discount of one per cent. of the face value on each purchase amounting to $100 or more.

The only arrangements that will be made for the sale of adhesive stamps are those above indicated-namely, the sale in quantities of $100 worth or more to parties willing to take them on the terms fixed by law for resale to taxpavers and sale directly to taxpayers by the several collectors and their stamp deputies.

MUSKRAT IN SUPPLY PIPE

For One Hour the Amphibious Rodent Kept City of Buffalo in Darkness,

A little muskrat succeeded in cutting off the electric light supply of nearly the entire city of Buffalo a few nights ago, says the News of that city, and it was an hour before the cause of the trouble was located and removed. With the exvention of an isolated district, here and there, the entire big town was wrapped in total darkness. Main street was one long avenue of gloom, broken only by lights in windows by private plants.

Everything had been running smoothv at the Lower station of the Buffel General Electric company, when the startling discovery was made that the water in the boilers and condensers was rapidly going down. An examination of the valve that lets the water in through the big feed pipe that runs out into Buffalo river was made, but the valve was open, as it should be. The valves on the boilers and condensers were examined, and they were found to be all right, too.

The water in the boilers dropped lower and lower, until finally, in order to avoid an explosion, it was found necessary to bank the fires and shut off the drafts. This done, the powerful dynamos no longer supplied current for the lamps, and the lights went out. The "trouble man" was called to the station. He quickly located the trouble in the feed pipe. It was cut, and after fishing around he dragged a muskrat out of the pipe and dropped it on the floor, mangled, but a victim in its involuntary undertaking to place the people of Buffalo in darkness.

CUTS OFF CUBANS' RATIONS.

War Department Officials Not Surprised at Action of One of American Generals in Cuba.

The war department officials express no surprise at the action of one of the American generals with Shafter's army in refusing to extend rations to some of the Cubans because of their refusal to do menial work, as required of them. While the desire and purpose of the government is to feed the Cubans who may need it, yet this matter. ter rests with the commanding general, who unquestionably has the right to withhold rations if for any reason he deems such action necessary. A separate account of all food furnished to the Cubans is to be kept by the army officials, so that at the end of the war an intelligent statement of the subject may be given to the public.

Food Proper for Elderly People A dietetic teacher advises elderly people to abstain from the use of stimulating foods. The need is indicated by natural inclination on the part of persons after they have passed the age of 55 to return to the simple foods of their childhood. Bread and milk, for example, is usually an esteemed diet by old people, and it is an excellent one. Another authority talking on longevity advises the free use of milk, but protests vigorously against too much bread, which to a person after 60 should be called the "staff of death" instead of that "of life." Has Many Schools. The Swiss city of Lausanne, with only 41,000 inhabitants, has 72 girls' to form a neore perfect union is also schools and 15 boys' schools, largely frequented by the English.
