An effort We receive is making in various quarters to agitate anew, at the next Congress, the faring pestions. On the part of the free tride advocates it is de la Cour de Cité, j'exposerai en vente, le dete tal to the interests of agricultive and commerce, which are sacrificed to pamer minufacturers, while, on the part of manufacturers it is insisted, that owing to the imperfect execution of the laws as they are, the protection which they purport to affird to the home-made faries, is nourcalized. Thus, between the two parties, the one complaining of xcessive duties, and the other that they are inoperative, this exciting and irritating discussion is, it is to be feared, about to be renewed. We hope not ir is, as it seems to as, for the real and te-ting interest of all parties that the experiment now making should be feir iv tested by experience, which is the on veff caud instructor of men or na ons It is, we admit, a monstrous nd most costly experiment; but it is is the course of being proved; we are content that it should be proved. A cy perceptible influence, either upon he manufacturing or agricultural Stas; those who enacted it, thereforeand there was an ignorable strite what party should have the merit of a measure that, if adopted at all, should only ral grounds-cannet as yet reap either the applause or censure, which their gersu es, on this head, deserve. The farff, in irself, we think had; but much marke, much more injurious to characer—in comparison with which, mere pecuniary interests, however great, are utriff. - lowe deem the aplicy which vole, trom mere party considerations. and consciences so entirely disamprove prise by persons unacquainted with the refore, it is, we would desire, that those who were capable of such dereliction of duty, should be made to feel, that the flatterers of the people are not always the favorices of the people. Again, the fore, we express the hope, that the Fariff may be fairly and fully tested.
