Among the most conscious of the latter class stands. past fife h is recommended him for the highest office in the part of his fellow-citizens, or that it should cease to obtain the least character for veracity or macliness. We shall not great the state character for veracity or macliness. We shall not stop to enquire how far it, would have suited its views had acted of "Julia" in the HUNCHBACK. It is a play of state of the part declarations and its pitiful subterfuges; but we shall force it and the trio of country-lawvers by whom it is controlled, to their testimony, so that the public may be able to form a

We do this alvisedly, for independent of conversations we have had with that gentleman upon the subject, we have now in our possession a speech of his delivered on the Sth of January, 1833, breathing the most patriotic seattments and representing in the most decided language the mad attempts of the South Carolina disorganizers. In one place we find the following energetic language, which is so appropose that we cannot but transcribe it—

"Nullification is a demon, speaking in subtleties, tempting the first delivered or deep the state delivered or deep the state of the disturbance, barrieded themselves in their chanter, or that is so in the was so head down by the buttered of M. Letters with this was so heat down by the buttered of M. Hanno to Luxembourg, refusing him, it is said, permission to use his carriage or his hoise.

Letters with a list in the most decided language the made at Tay, in Galicia, by a party of about eighty Curtists, who had passed the Minho, but were promptly routed. The National Genevois states that it has received a lutter from the Valais, announcing that a corps of Austrian troops had approached the frontiers of that Canton, and at the said distribution is a demon, speaking in subtleties, tempting the frontier from St Maurice to St Gragolpo against the bands of Poles, had received orders to return to their house.

In conclusion, we repeat, that the Advertiser having made numerous absertions derogatory to Judge Dawson's character as a man and a politician, it is bound to make the same good. It cannot avoid the responsibility. We deny all its primites and surmises, and call upon it in the public fame, to be no forward with the proper proof. We cannot argue upon assertions, nor will they be received by the community as facts. We know that the position of the Louisians is a critical one, because we are confident that it has not an test of proof to establish its infounded slanders.
