

FROM FLORIDA.
Office of the Secretary,
Washington, Dec. 7, 1864.
The Secretary of the Interior,
Washington, Dec. 7, 1864.

PROCLAMATION FOR THE REPEAL OF THE DIFFERENTIAL DUTY.
Whereas the Secretary of the Interior,
Washington, Dec. 7, 1864.

FOR GOVERNOR.
HENRY JOHNSON.
TUESDAY MORNING, DEC. 7, 1864.

TYLERISM AGAIN.
As necessity is the tyrant's ally, it is not surprising that in the course of a feeble effort of Mr. Tyler, volunteered by the editor of the Advertiser, in reply to the charge of apoplexy referred against him in this paper, the writer should have had his indignation in the person of the patron of Mr. Tyler. And in what consists the President's "patronage?" According to Mr. Jones
W. Jones, it is that he studies to promote the interests of the country, rather than the interests of a party.

THE MEDICINE MAN.
The article which the Advertiser attempts a response, accused Mr. Trux of having abandoned the office of appointing a suitable vice-loo to a vacant office—that of the Membership of Middle Tennessee.
