

Biography

Victorine, Mathilde Alendy

Victorine, Mathilde Alendy (Born November 21, 1964), Economist, author, illustrator, with the writer's name: Vicky. M. Alendy, was born in Wageningen, district Nickerie in Suriname, as the sixth of eight children, to Antomini Mewasi a housewife, and Lamafu Johannes Alendy, a father who was a self made businessman and Ferry entrepreneur. She began writing, at the age of eight, and as a teenager wrote numerous unpublished poems and short stories.

After finishing the university of Suriname as an Economist in Paramaribo in August 1988, she married in September 1988 the Dutch businessman J.F.Ch. Noorden in Paramaribo Suriname and left Suriname with him for Amsterdam. Together they had two children, a daughter Jeanine and a son Andrew. In January 1996 she married S.A. Wiltschut, with S.A. Wiltschut, she had a son, Stephan.

Divorce

In 1994 Vicky and J.F.Ch. Noorden divorced, after almost 7 years of marriage and in 2009 "Vicky and S.A. Wiltschut divorced after almost 14 years of marriage.

Career

It was her marriage to S.A. Wiltschut that led Vicky to consider a career in writing children books. She debuted on the Island of Curaçao, in the year 2000 with a Multilanguage book in Dutch and Papiamentu titled in Dutch: Zeho het zeepaardje; in Papiamentu: Zeho e kabai di awa; which she illustrated herself. She is busy preparing to come out again in 2013 her land of birth with four self illustrated, Multilanguage youth literature books in Paramaribo-Suriname.