THE WEST INDIA SQUADRON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Our government has received assurance that the intention of Great Britain in reinforcing her West India Squadron is positively pacific. Commodore Paulding now proceeds to Nicaragua with a flag ship only.

FROM MEXICO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Herald had late advices from Mexico, which give information that our Minister, Mr. Gadsden, is seriously ill. Gen. Almonte, the Mexican Minister to the United States, has been superseded by Senor. Mangino.

GEN. WOOL CASHIERED.

We have information here to-day, from Washington, that General Wool has been cashiered.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Cotton has advanced ¼ to ⅜ of a cent per pound. Flour is 6 to 18 cents higher. Sugar has advanced ¼ cent per pound.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Cotton is firm; Middling Orleans 9¾, and Middling Uplands 9¾c. per pound. Flour is firm.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

LATER BY THE ASIA.

LONDON, Saturday morning.—The following is given on authority of a Berlin despatch in the London Advertiser:

An order of the day from Gortschakoff, dated October 15th, declares that he will not evacuate the town, confided to his defence. Neither will he retreat before the invader, but defend the country at all hazards.

Yesterday ten thousand officers and men 1st regiment 4th infantry British foreign legion embarked on board steamer Simeon, for Balaclava.

The Daily News says: The announcement that our fleet in the American seas was to be reinforced, has excited considerable discussion.

Diocesan matters quiet. It is said that the aggregate loans which will be required by the British and French governments during the early part of next year, represent very large sums. Bonus further small parcels of gold were sent into the bank—the immediate demand of the continent being apparently satisfied after the late Australian arrival.

MISSOURI.

The message of Governor PRICE is succinct, and devoted exclusively to State affairs, and dwelling largely on the interest of Missouri in the main trunk and several branches of the Pacific railroad. Of the $9,000,000 of bonds authorized to be issued to the various companies, $4,580,000 have been delivered. He speaks favorably of some of these enterprises, but believes they will cost far more than the original estimates. Of others he treats in discouraging terms, considering that they will never pay the enormous outlay required for their completion. He says in conclusion:

After a careful survey of the whole subject I feel, more than ever, confident the system originally devised, and which is now in force, for aiding in the construction of railroads, is, in its essential features, wise, judicious and safe, evincing on the part of the General Assembly a rare appreciation of the principle of public justice and remarkable foresight. Even hardly do I expect that any section of a road which is completed, would not be worth one half of the sum it cost. The only defect in the system, in my opinion, is, that it does not require the roads to be constructed and completed by successive sections, instead of permitting the companies to expend all their means over various portions of the line, in such manner that if the works are checked there is no section fit for use. I think they should be required to begin at one of the termini and complete each section in order successively until the whole is finished. If this is done, whenever they fail to fulfill their obligations, the portions completed will certainly yield enough to relieve the State from responsibility.

The remainder of the message deals with topics of no interest to our readers.

Startling Narrative of Crime.

A Murderous Trio—Powerful Memory of a Murderer.

Some months ago, a large section of the interior country, embracing portions of the counties of Calaveras, El Dorado and Placer, was the theatre of a series of horrible and mysterious murders, attributed to Mexican banditti. In most cases the victim was a miner, known to have been working a good claim, and situated in a locality where, in case of an attack by robbers, he would have little chance of escape, and still less chance of assistance from neighbors. In several instances, men were murdered and their bodies burned on the spot; and upon making search for the missing, the only ground for suspicion that the party might be dead, was considered, was in the fact that his tent or cabin bore traces of having been rifled and evident hasty departure of the occupant. The officers of the law were unable to gain any trace to the route pursued by the murderers, or of their number or character, although it was universally believed that they were Mexicans.

Some weeks since a murder was committed in El Dorado county, and suspicion attached to a man named Wilson, and though there was not nothing of proof sufficient to warrant his arrest, a Deputy Sheriff of that county resolved to try what could be done by stratagem. Accordingly he easily approached Wilson, and charged him directly with the murder. Wilson manifested every symptom of guilt, and immediately exclaimed: "How they could tell, Kelly!" The officer said, "Yes, we have caught Kelly;" when the other replied, 'Then the d——d scoundrel has showed upon me." Wilson was immediately taken to the Coloma jail, when he was induced to become State's evidence, with the condition that he should be liberated upon the conviction of his partners in crime. He then commenced a long narrative of murders, to which he had been a witness and party, and implicated two men named Kelly and Mickey Free, with whom, it appears, he was associated to nearly every murder that has been committed in the several of the country specified during the last year. He related his story with such minute detail, apparently exhibiting such a wonderful power of memory, that his listeners were almost induced to the belief that they were being deceived by the imaginings of a mad man.

Many of the circumstances which he related, however, were in some measure known to the officers, and a careful note was taken of all the descriptions which he gave relative to the positions of the bodies of more than one man murdered by him and his companions, and burned, as a precaution against immediate investigation of the murder. In several cases these descriptions were found to be wonderfully correct, even in such details as the tearing of a garment and stuffing the fragments into the mouth of the victim, to prevent his pulling for assistance. Bodies of murdered men, described by him as having been burned at a distance from any habitation, were found in the exact position indicated. The form and color of a rock, the peculiar inclination of the branches and shrubbery of a tree in a spot visited by him but once, and then under circumstances which gave little time or opportunity for remark, were described with such accuracy that the officers had only to refer to the chart which he had marked out for their guidance, and they were sure of finding the objects which it indicated.

Soon after the arrest of Wilson, a policeman of the city visited him in his cell at Coloma jail, with the view of ascertaining if he was the person of the same name who is accused of murdering a man in Monterey county, some years since. As soon as the officer entered the cell he saw that Wilson was not the man he was looking for, and immediately turned away —when the jailer remarked to the officer: "I'll bet you that Wilson can describe to me every inch of your dress." The officer remained in a position where he could listen without being seen by the prisoner, and was startled to hear complete description not only of his apparel, but even of peculiarities of the person which he himself had never previously noticed. It is admitted by all, that a man of such remarkable talent, capable of employing it in the manner illustrated by his own story of crime, is one dangerous a person to be allowed his liberty. Mickey Free, one of the murderous trio, has been arrested, and will undoubtedly be executed. Kelly had not been captured at the last accounts, but it is believed that he is in the State, and cannot fail to escape the punishment which so justly due for the crimes he is said to have committed.

SHOOTING IN BALTIMORE.—A despatch of the 10th instant says:

Last evening, in Baltimore, while a political club of Americans was passing along the streets, they were fired upon from a house inhabited by Germans; the balls killing a watchman. The Americans immediately attacked the house and fired over 100 balls into it. They also broke down the barricades and completely riddled the whole building. The inmates made their escape.

The proceedings created again, and were attacked from another house. An interference of the police prevented further mischief, by arresting the inmates.

A STAMPEDE OF LADIES.—At Bonlogne, during the reception of Her Majesty, a number of the ladies, in their anxiety to see everything, pressed with such force against the soldiers who were keeping the line, that the latter were, in many instances obliged to give way, and generally were—to use the expression of our policeman—"hounded in the execution of their duty." The officer in command, seeing the state of affairs, shouted out: "One roll of the drum; then, if they don't keep back, bite them all." At the first sound from the merchants, the English ladies took to flight. "If they had been French," says a Parisian journalist, "they would have remained to a woman."

FIRE.—About half-past 2 o'clock on Saturday morning last, our citizens were alarmed by the ringing of the fire bells and the shouting cry of fire. It was soon ascertained that the dwelling house of Mrs. Edwards, late Mrs. Prytania, situated on the South side of Market street, between Jackson and Jackson streets, and immediately opposite the residence of Dr. Thos. Anderson, was on fire. Our reporter was immediately on the spot, but so rapid had been the progress of the fire, owing to the combustible character of the building, that it was impossible to save it. The adjoining buildings were, however, saved, notwithstanding the great danger they were in.—Vicksburg Whig.

RENDERING TESTS INSENSIBLE TO PAIN.—The Dublin Hospital Gazette states that the second tooth have been rendered insensible to pain by a constant compound of Cannabis Indicus and alcohol tinct., which is to be inserted in the hollow of the tooth. When a pill. It is stated that such pills afford immediate relief in all toothache, and obviate cases of inflammation. This relief, by tooth-ache is simple, safe, and can easily be tried by any people.

COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY EVENING, Nov. 16, 1855.

A good demand has prevailed to-day all the branches of our general market during the past week, and the business in most of the leading articles has only been limited by the extent of the supplies. Our great capital is now receiving the bulk of the crop, and the banks have met it with an active demand, the former at a liberal rate of discount. Flour has also advanced, while Wheat has been firmer. In Provisions, there has been more movement with a decided improvement in the tone for Pork. Freights have been firm, and Exchange generally unchanged. Advices from the Liverpool Cotton market, announcing the receipt of the 17th ult., were received at about noon on Saturday, and appeared in the evening papers of that day. They reported a dull Cotton market at Liverpool, with a decline in prices of of ⅛@¼d. Fair Orleans being quoted at 5¾d., and Middling Orleans at 5¼d @ 5⅜. The sales of the week were stated at 32,000 bales. The sales of the week here have been 17,000 bales, and stand advanced ¼@⅜ @ cent. Flour and Wheat were reported lower, but there is a slight improvement in the former to-day. Corn has declined 2@3c. ### GREAT CURE OF PILES.

HUNTSVILLE, N. U., Nov. 1, 1853.

DR. C. M. JACKSON—Dear Sir—Allow me to express to you my sincere thanks for your discovery of a medicine, which I say the least of it, has effected a cure, then all other medicines that I have taken have entirely failed to do. "Hoofland's German Bitters" have cured me of the most stubborn and aggravated case of the PILES that perhaps, ever fell to the lot of man. My case is not a stranger to this community, as I am well known in this and the surrounding counties, and can truly say that my recovery has not only been a source of joy to my friends and relations, as I can tried everything, consulted physicians, and nothing did me any good until I was prevailed upon to try the Bitters.—You are at liberty to make any use of this communication, for the benefit of the afflicted, as you may think proper.

Truly yours,
WM. J. ATWOOD.
