FROM OUR SYNTHE EDITION OF TRATERDAY, (Mabeas Corpus) in the South-Two-portant Questions of Military and Civil Jurisdiction.

I [From the Richmood Examiner, July 24,]
In this sourt, on yesterday, Judge Halykerton rendered decidoon (after elaborate and reneeded argument for some days good) in feartubeau corpus cases, in which new and lamperant questions was involved.

Int. In the case of J. R. Lone. The prisoner sked to be disobaryed from the military service f the Confederate States, upon the ground that attempted to arress him, hear he misses tead dece, on 'Wednesday night. We expected full and antientic particulars of the outrage from the Coroner's inquest yesterday, but an heads only a post mortem examination, postponing the regular inquest to Baturday, at the request in the care, employed by Mr. Jenkins, was the reduced in the care, employed by Mr. Jenkins, was we can now only add what we have learned from some of those who are cognizant of the stair. The boy was about 21 years of age, belouged to a sister of Mr. Earhart, the prosecuting counsel in the care, employed by Mr. Jenkins, was a pet of the family, and was so kindly cared for that he kept company more with white boys than with those of the family and been threatening for some time to impress him no consequence of his better stairs, and had been on from home during the evening, and had been on from home during the evening, and been seen in the vicinity shortly before, and it is presumable they had been on from home during the evening, and the press gain, and captured. They had been seen in the vicinity shortly before, and it is presumable they had been on the one even the statement of congress—assure the word to his matress that he was taken, and the offer of him. and he has been arrested, and perhaps the inqueet will show who is the murderer.

Killed by Lightning—The Coroner yesterday held an inquest on the body of floury Myer, aged 29, and a native of Bramen, Germany, at the corner of Closet and Morales at resets. Third District. It appeared that the deceased had been standing against the post of a gate smoking his pipe. About 25 feet back, was a house in which were a woman and three obliders. The woman testified that shout noon on Wednesday the found herself suddenly prostrated on the floor gasping for her breath, and her three children in the same condition. The deceased was found by the gate, where he had been standing, and was dead. He was burnt on his left side, from his head to his foot, the akin was off in places, as if he had been sasided, his hair was scorehed, and the fonce and gate were splintered and toru to pleese. All this was caused by a raid of lightning, and the jury rendered a vericia accordingly.

Cherged with Murder—A plantar named H. more than one European Protectorate in Avista.

Whatever can be done to prevent Louis Napoleon from joining hands with Jeff. Davis now, ought to be done. The way to prevent it is to give some assurance to the masses of the Southern people, now growing under the rebe yoke, that the blessings of the old Constitution.

yoke, that the blessings of the old Constitution are still reserved to them, if they throw down their arms and return to their algaince. In that way we can divide the South, units the North, and laugh the foreign interventionists to scorn.

To crisis, however, demands, as we have said, patriotism of a high order, and statementally; it also requires mere, moral courage, and decision of character—but these, we fear, we have not got, and will not get, under the presunt dispensation, unless by some aspecial interest, dispensation, unless by some aspecial interot got, many penastion, unless by some penastion, unless by some penastion of Providence in our behalf, N. The operation of the conveription is likely to embarrase both the military and naval branches of the Government service, by taking skilled laborers from positions where their labore are of great value and putting them in the ranks, where an ordinary laborer would be as efficient. From Colt's armory, Hartford, one hundred and eighty mea have been drafted. These works are running night and day on Government work. From the Springtield armory, and from the thousands employed in armories, navy yards, &c., large numbers must of course be taken, and is will be difficult, if not impossible, to fill their places, and much delay and interruption to work, importantly accessary to be done, must be experienced. There is a clause in the conscription act under which these drafted men might be retained in their places and attill be liable to service in the army whenever they should cease to be employed on Government work.

Probable Murder—A Colored Boy Shot and killed by the Press Gang—For a week or so next, the negroes throughout the city have been much disquist, from the fact that there has seen something like a general impresement in in much disquiet, from the fact that there has been something like a general impresence to it progress. A boy shout 29 years old, belonging to fair. Jenkins, President of the Board of Assessors, who had brought him up and was much attached to him, was captured by the negro press gang leat night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, near his meater's premises. It is said they had marked him out for their prey for several day, but he had been keeping closely at home, and thereby frentrated their kind intentions. At least, he had occasion to go outside the premises of his meater, when he was saddenly made a prisoner by a negro-gang of shout a dozen, some of them armed, we are informed. The boy sent word to his mistress that he was taken; directly after the family beard the report of a market, and word was brought to them that "Wm" had been shot and killed. The affair has not yet been examined into, but as the boy was abot in the back, the presemption is that he was attempting to run away from his captors. The body was taken to the Foorth District police station, where the Coroner will hold an inquest in the course of the day.
