scheme of the administration brought forward by Mr. Wall.

The debate is likely to be of great interest. Mr. Crittenden has the floor for to-morrow; and Mr. Webster is expected to give his views at an early stage of the discussion.

The house of representatives passed, after a brief debate, the bill te ensure the more effectual execution of the revenue laws; and then adjourned, at two o'clock, for the purpose of enabling the members to whole, the season of the seamhout Corambia, which made a pleasare excursion to Mountverson in the afternoon.

Mr. Underwood, chairman of the committee, mitted, this morning, a number of resolutions: A question was raised as 'o whether the resolutions were in order. The committee, it was contended, had seen appointed merely to inquire into the facts of the

The motion was rejested—ayes, 63—nays, 97.
The question was then taken on the decision of the chair. It was not sustained—and the resolutions were declared to be out of order.
Another unsuccessful motion was made to lay on the table the whole subject.
Mr. Holmes, of S. C., then rose and said, that he, felt constrained by a sense of duty, though with the most painful smotions, to offer a resolution to the effect that the conduct of Mesers. Garland and Bynum, in fighting in the hall during the session, was a gross violation of the dignity of the house, and calls on the house to vindicate its dignity by the appalsion of bath members.

Mr. Craig offered, as a substitute, a resolution to refer back the subject to the select committee, with instructions to report whet measures ought to be taken to prevent the recurrence of such altercations and acts of violence in future.

Mr. Jenifer spoke in favour of the resolution of Mr. Holmes, which he thought was due, to the character of the house and the country.

Mr. Profife expressed his astonishment at Mr. Jenifer's course. He had sever heard a single man of any party suggest that Mr. Garland ought to be expelled. Such an idea he had believed, could not enter the head of any humbn being. Mr. Garland had acted only as most sen would have acted under similar circumstances. The occurrence was the natural result of the scenes, and violent language, and insults, which had been tolerated during the present and previous sessions. He thought the present proceeding could do no good; and he therefore moved to lay the resolution on the table. The motion was rejected.

Mr. Briggs then proposed as a substitute for Mr Craig's amendment, a resolution declaring that Messer Bynum and Garland had committed a breach of the privileges of the house.

After a long discussion this substitute was rejected and the original resolution of Mr. Craig was adepted.

and the original resolution of Mr. Craig was adopted.

Bo the whole subject was re-committed to the committee with instructions to report what action the bones ought to take in the premises.

In the senate, Mr. Wright presented a remonstrance from merchants of the city of New York, against the bill recordly passed by the house of representatives for the better enforcement of the revenue laws; which was referred to the committee on finance and ordered to be printed.

The senate has been engaged during the principal part of the day in the discussion of the uniform national bankrupt law. Mr. Crittenden delivered a speech, powerful in argument and aloquence, and vivified by frequent and most successful sailies of wit and sarcasm, in support of the original gill reported by the whig majority of the judiciary conthittee, and is opposition to the substitute proposed by the Wall.

It is a remarkable illustration of the inconsistency of Mr. Van Buren and his adherents, that, in contending for the application of a Federal bankrupt law, to State banks and corporations, they are opposing the very grounds supported by Mr. Van Buren in 1897, when a bankrupt law was under consideration in the

He then opposed a proposition exactly identical with the present bill of Mr. Wall, as both inexpedient and unconstitutional. Yet, now he and his friends resist a measure designed to give a discharge to honest but unfortunate insolvents, on a surrander of their property to their creditors, unless it embraces this very principle, and extends its operations to the institutions of the States.

The house was engaged during the whole day with the reports of the select committee on public printing. Mr. Evans, of Maine, and Mr. Rice Garland, of La., spoke with uncommon ability and eloquence in favor of a reform of the abuses and extravagance which had been tolerated in this branch of the public service.—The result was, a proposition by Mr. Petriken to reduce the present prices of 10 per cent. instead of 25 per cent., as proposed by Mr. Garland, and the previous question was called, but before the decision could be made, the house adjourned. Peacely rists.
The questions raised in reference to the public iclesting have been settled for the presentesticies. The utilization party, in the house, decided, yesterday, by a deliberate vote, that the publishers of the Globe shall a deliberate vote, that the publishers of the Globs sha's continue to receive for executing the printing of the house true per cent more than men actually effered to do the work for. Two offers higher been made to execute the public printing; one at the rate of winterer ruts per cent less than the prices fixed by the joint recount of March 3d, 189—and the other at the rate of twenty per cent less than those prices. The minority of the committee offered a repetitulor recting this fact, declaring that the house ought not to pay the printer a higher rate of compensation than the prices at which other pursons competent to do the work are willing to perform it, and fixing the prices accordingly. This was voted down by the partizans of the executive; and another resolution adopted reducing the present prices only surrezus per cent. Even this reduction, still leaving the prices extravagantly high, was extorted from the administration party, by the disclosures and indignant denenciations of the opposition.

was voted down by the partians of the executive, and another resolution adopted reducing the present prices only rurrezzy per cent. Even this reduction, still leaving the process extravagantly high, was extored from the administration party, by the disclosures and indignant demonstration of the opposition.

This extra allowance of ten per cent is nothing more or less than an electionesting fund for the Globe office, to be spent in disseminating the falsehoods, and callumnies, and other party fabrications from that great lecofect manufactory. The public treasury is plundered to give efficiency to the Globe. A most Kendall is made to descend from his post as a cabinet minister to be its conductor—and every means will be resorted to in order to send the organ of the president to every quarter of the Union. We have an example in this city of what Kendall intends to do in this way. The clerka in the general post office department have been waited on with a subscription paper, and required to put down themselves for six copies of the Extra Globe, at the oldisar. The same system will be pursued to wards all the deputy postmasters, officers and agents throughout the land. A general tax is to be levied to increase the resources of the Globe, and pay for the services of an ex-member of the calinet. Then Mr. ex-senator Niles is to come into the past office department at the successor of Kandall. The press and the post being under the direction of these two unsexupout one partizans, we will find a system of electionsering carried on by the fidered administration which has never been equalled in any ocentry. The people of the loco-feco Federal administration which has never been equalled in any country. The people of the kept back, delayed on the road, or perhaps destroyed to their liberties from this unprincipled combination.—
