

Robin J Adelyn

Robin Jana Adelyn (*21 February 1981 in Windhoek, Namibia) is a novelist and modern writer.

Adelyn was born to Hermann Adelyn and Linda Adelyn (née Gartner). Her parents have German family roots and are of French and Swiss Nationality.

At the age of three, Adelyn's family moved to France where she went to école maternelle (kindergarten) and école primaire (elementary school).

In 1994, Adelyn moved to Madrid, Spain where her father got a job as a librarian in higher service.

When Adelyn was a teenager, she began to write short stories. She knew very early in life that she wanted to become a professional writer. During her studies at Stockholm University, Sweden she wrote her first novels and short stories which had been published under a pseudonym.

Adelyn prefers to write her stories in English language although this is not her mother tongue. Her lovely, non-perfect style has already become cult amongst her fans and supporters.

Robin J Adelyn now dedicates her creativity to a modern paper chase called "Remember". "Remember" marks a new kind of short-story/real-life interaction. Readers will crack the case described in the story and subsequently take part in the final story of the series. At the moment, part one The Key to it All has been published via Kindle Direct Publishing. Sequels are to follow soon.