THE DAILY BEE, PUBLISHED BY
C. F. WEISSE & CO.
Editors and Proprietors.
C. F. WEISSE, E. DUVERGER, E. HARBY, N. DUFOUR.
DAILY PAPER, (one year in advance,) $12 00
COUNTRY PAPER, semi-weekly, (one year in advance,) 5 00
Subscribers must give one week's notice in writing, before he can be allowed to stop.

The New Orleans Bee.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.
One Dollar for every TEN lines or less, inserted on the first insertion and FIFTY CENTS for each subsequent one. No Advertisement under four lines counted in each language.
☞ Advertisements ordered without specific time will be charged one dollar for every TEN lines for less than a week for each insertion.
☞ The privilege of Annual Advertisers is limited to advertisements strictly with the name of the firm of same, and in extent to one square every other day.

No. 2002 Vol. XI—NEW SERIES.
Vol. XVII—Whole No. 7210

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 11, 1853.

THE DAILY BEE.

Thursday Morning August 11, 1853.

For Congress:
SECOND DISTRICT
T. G. HUNT
For State Treasurer,
HARRY T. HAYS, of Orle
For Auditor of Public Accounts
JOHN E. KING, of St Land
For Superintendent of Public Education,
A. H. LYMAN, of W Baton Rouge.

☞ The Northern Mail failed yesterday from [illegible]

THOUGHTS AND SUGGESTIONS.

The city papers has some judicious remarks respecting the paramount necessity of a New Fever patients quiet. It is a known fact that almost as many die from the effects of the essential means, as from the disease itself. In order to assist and obtain prompt action in all febrile disorders perfect tranquility and mind are indispensable to the successful cross of the disease, but in a Fever, it is absolutely a sine qua non. The excitement of ill-advised and incautious friends are a world of evil consequences. Every conversation excites the patient, and is a necessary to the fever, their very attempts to be cheerful and inspire him with hope, though kindly meant, are fruitful of evil. The best plan for the sick man to pursue is carefully to exclude from his chamber, all the pleasants and nurse. The latter, should understand the urgent propriety of attending to the wants of the sufferer in a mild with the least possible fuss and words.

Instances have occurred to satisfy the most skeptical of these views. We have seen at least two convalescents, protracted and aggravated by the premature visits of sympathising relatives and influenced friends. We have known a patient who had been pronounced convalescent by his physician, actually killed by the preserving intermeddling of others — an exaggeration whatever in this. It a fever patient, intemperate in their use, exposed to all kinds of weather, and subject to the result. When taken, they are frequently startled by the malady in its most [illegible] instead of seeking medical advice, [illegible] an artificial excitement from stimulants drown their [illegible] Finally, when they grow dangerous [illegible] and drinking women surround [illegible] and distract the sufferers [illegible] Every thing that ought to be [illegible] and much that could to be [illegible] We can assure you that [illegible] are unavoidable [illegible] and more exactly strong [illegible] Yellow Fever [illegible] The only weapons [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]