Read for the first time.

"An act for the relief of the college of Franklin."
Which was reali for the first time and laid on the ts to subject to call.

Mr Brownson at the same time presented the fellowing report.

The joint committee of the Legislature who were charged with extending into the condition of the Colkge of Franklin, beg leave to report—That in discharge of the duties thus imposed upon them they have proceeded to the town of Opelousa, and visited the solite, selected by the Trustees, on which the buildings of that Institution are in progress of being erected.

The situation chosen for this College is one of the most eligible to be found in any part of Louisiana; being on elevated ground and commanding a prospect to the westward of very great extent, and ever open to the sea brezz that continuous to refresh the innabitions of that county through the whole of the summer mouths, alleviating the livest of a southern sun and making it univeilled for health by any other place in the southern part of the United States; while all the necessaries of hie may be easily procured and at mecratae prices.

Your committee repret that they have not found the or tate prices.

Your committee regret that they have not found the bandwage of said College in as advanced a state as a could have been desired; but the reason of this will be found in the fact that the sum appropriated by the Legislature, previous to the last session, was inadequate to the purpose for which it was intended; and the Trusteen of this College had greented to them the alternative of erecting a building which could not have been splitchedly extensive for any thing more than an Academy, or of waiting until the well known Eberality of the Legislature should be again exerted in their behalf. They chose the latter course, and were not disappointed, for by the third section of the ect of 31st March 1833, the sum of $15,000, in addition to the turner crant, was appropriated to the termer crant, was appropriated to the termer crant, was appropriated to the termer crant. internality of the Legislature should be again exerted at their behalf. They chose the latter course, and were not disruppinted, for by the third section of the sect of 31st Match 1835, the sum of 315,000, in addition to the tornier grant, was appropriated for the relief of the said College; and thus a sum of 335,000 was formed, which enabled the Trustees to issue proposals for erecting buildings suitable for a College, that, it is confidently expected, will, at no distant day, reflect credit of the generous spirit that prompted the morporation of this Institution. These proposals resulted in a contract for constructing such buildings is had been previously planned by the Board of Trustees, and which are particularly described in the said contract, a copy of which is annexed to, and makes fart of this repert. By this plan it will be perceived hat two professors houses and two domittories are contemplated, and which will be capable of accomolating at least as many students as either of she Colleges of Jeffersen of Louisiana. In puristuace of the side contract the foundation of this College has been independent of the contract of the contract of the foundation of this College has been independent of the contract of the foundation of this College has been independent of the contract of the students of the contract of the foundation of this College has been independent of the contract of the students for said buildings, which are low in progress of being collected, so that they have to doubt that an little more than one year from the resent time, this College may be opened for the relegion of students.

Your committee will further state that the Trustees of its College have purchased for the use of she same, one undred arpens of land at a cost of two shousend dolices which added to the price agreed on forthe buildings, 829,200 00 makes an agreedgree meant of thirty one iousand two hundred delarrs; which leaves only a sum if $3,800 00 to defirely the contingent expenses, pay deries to a Scoretary and Treasurer, and
