The asse cuttor of the retemony Intelligencer, has been nofinished by the whige of that city as their delegate to the House of Representatives of Virginia. Mr. S. is a sound whig, and a gentleman of excellent ability. His election is highly probable, as the "Cockade" has but once in many years given a lecefeco majority.

GEN. VAN RESIDENCIASE. - Among the appoint GEN. VAN REMBERLAND.—Among the appointments, to office under the new administration, there is some that will afford more condial estimation than the somination of Gen'l. SOLOMON VAN REMBERLAND to the place of Post-master at Albany. This heavy verteras he I held the office for a number of years.—Even the ruthless procentpion of the Jackson dynasty had filtpected his grey hairs. It was reserved for Mr. Van Burnen to strike at the head which Jackson had spared. Gen'l. Van Remserland partian of the defected regency—Mg. Flaces. In the prompt performance of an act of justices for which the nation will thank him, Gen'l. Harmon has in his turn displand the minion of Mr. Van Bunku and re-instance the aged patriet.

had taken up their positions, on a signal from the inventor, the boat was set in unoison, and struck just abath her starboard how, and instants account shattered in a thousand fragments. At the mousent of collision the water parted, and presented to the eye of our informant the appearance of a sugge bowl, while upon its toubled surface he noticed a conteastion precisely resembling farked lightning. A column of water was lifted up in the air like a huge fountain, from which were projected, upward of many hundred feet, the shattered fragments of the vessel, which fell many of them several hundred yards distance in the adjacent fields. Our informant examined many pieces, and found the huge nails snapped like carrous; the mast looked like a tree riven by lightning.

The reporter of this experiment able that the means by which an effect so mighty was produced were not made known to all the company who witnessed it, but the inventor had explained it to two naval officers who were present. He stated that un the back of a mule he could transport the means of destroying the strongers for trees in Europe. The weight of the instrument used in the trial was eighteen pounds, which by its explosion raised up and shattered with five tone of solid timber, and displaced a large body of water. Of the troth of this satement there werems to be no doubt at timber, and displaced a large body of water. Of the troth of this satement there were to be no doubt and we hape there is not.
