It armears therefore not unlikely that Marquett and his mesimiant confectioner were the victims of assassination.

CHARLES DERBIENT, Esq. has again been induced to offer years has he served the inhabitante of that parish in the state legislature; and on every occasion served them with zeal and ability. Continued services like his must have ren dered grateful all his constituente; and made them reluctant to part with one so capable and desirous faithfully and constantly to represent their rights and advocate their inte-

But opposition-in one quarter at least-has been excited against him for one of the most useful lets which he could possibly have mooted for the benefit of his constituentsthat for creating a city court in Lafayette, and for enlarging the jurisdiction of the Jefferson parish court. We had witnessed his anxiety to have this law passed in conformity they have not once contemplated the utility if not necessity with the requisition and reiterated requests of his constituents; and the successful manner wherewith he had it carried through its several stages in the senate. Nor was he contented with his efforts there, when he heard that the act was nesailed in the house of representatives. Individually he explained to several members of that house the nature, necessi- then resemble ty and utility of the measure: and his efforts triumphedefforts evidently exerted not for the aske of opposition, but from being thore wilely convinced that the enactment would materially meliorate the administration of justice among his constituents. And already have his anticipations been hap-

We candid'y confess that we give him as much credit for securing the passage of that act, as for any other portion of his legislative career. That Mr Der! i ny makes the in erest: of his constituents the guide of his public conduct, we are firmly persuaded. He is a gentleman of too much honor and dignity to deviate from rectitude of principles and pursuits. He cheerfully supports any measure whose utility is proved; but he cannot be espoled to sanction any questionable course. nor deterred from advocating measures of whose providety he is persuaded. Even his remarks on the introduction in the senate from the house of the act published yesterday in this gazette, evince that he must be convinced of the propriety of any measure affecting his sanction. That act was to incorporate the Lafayette steambout ferry company. He to incorporate the Latayette steambout ferry company. The had not been apprized of the charter demanded; he therefore had the consideration of it postponed till he could acquire information. And so in every other instance has he acted.

It is perhaps not necessary to glance at the singular opposition excited against him, as those who are the originators or directors of it have been afraid or ashamed to avow them. selves. But we are assured that it is as limited as objectionable, as unjust as ungenerous; and that his constituents will manfully elect him by an overwhelming majority. Mr. Waggaman's name has been used not only without his sanction: but against his positive determination not to serve even if elected: so that even the friends of Mr W. will cheerfully support Charles Dessigny.

CHARLESTON - Last evening a very large and respectable assembly of our citizens was held at Banks' Arcade, for the purpose of raising subscriptions to relieve the victims of the late fire at Charleston. Colonel Chaisty was appointed the fire at Charleston. Colonel Chairry was appointed chairman, assisted by Messra Folten and Nicholson; and the meeting having been eloquently addressed by Messra Christy, Maybin, Potts, T. G. and R. Hunt, patrols committee were apportioned for different districts to collect subscriptions; and another to receive and transmit the amount bollected. It was also resolved to request the several clergy men of the city to deliver charity agreement a part subhatio. men of the city to deliver charity sermons on next subbath and afterwards raise a collection.

Liberality and sympathy were seldom, so energetically enthusiastically exhibited, as at this meeting. Bufare we lef we saw three subscription papers, each headed by a sum of one hundred dollars from one individual; and followed by similar amounts from others.

DEFENCE OF THE CITY COUNTIL

With the utmost deference for the members individual ly of the city conneil, we have occasionally been compelled to notice freely some oversights or flagrancies in by 7 to 1.

Mr Gaiennie moved for three thousand. Rejected by time of the council is too occupied with prolix and desultous debates on the veriest trifles; so that the memhers are harassed and irritated before the period armies for presenting resolutions and reports. Action in a legislative body should undoubtadly be the result of deliberation or investigation; but when that deliberation degenerates into a display of verbosity or verbal centen of charity.

Mr Pichot enlarged on these objections; and thought it makes to the nart of the council to make be suspended, and matters of prime importance neglec

So has it proved in the conduct of our municipal gov ernment, the members of which contest not only among themselves, and with their president on patty punctilios; but with the mayor—all whose objections it has now become the forder of the day' to disregard, and all his suggestions to slight when possible. He sometimes approves of the tenor and spirit of a resolution or ordinance; and suggests improvements on revision. But the council are so wondrously wise—in their own esteem—that they will not adopt them, contenting them selver with an exclamation akin to that we heard untered by a member on Saturday when the mayor approved of the propriety of effecting snother passing contracts. but with the mayor-all whose objections it has now propriety of effecting another paving contract, but propriety of effecting another paving contract, but suggested that the nature or quality or the stones should be stipulated in the contract—Never mind that; he has approved the re-olution'. This species of conduct is ungenerous towards the mayor; and unjust towards his the injunction; and that both be made the orde constituents-the citizens in general of New Orleans. MR. VAN BUREN'S LETTER.

We take pleasure in submitting to our readers the following interesting correspondence. Mr Caldwe'l moved for 2000, Rejected 5 to 3. Mr Labatut opposed any application of this nature. New Orleans had not received relief from any city, when she required it under similar circumstances. The lowestate of the Orleans had not received relief from any city, when one required it under similar circumstances. The low state of the city finances imperatively prevents such a grant. The corporation already relieves several indigent persons from every state. And the Charity Hospital will require from the city whatever surplus funds can be appropriated for the purposes

It cannot be denied, that there is no country in the world. whose inhabitants are so well secured in their civil and re-ligious rights, and enjoy so large a share of prosperity and happiness, as the people of the United States. For this, they are indebted e-s to samberry of climate and fertility of soil, are indebted e- to establing of climate and fertility of soil, it has no our exist our system of government; by which, more than by any other, every man is protected in the application of his powers and faculties to his own benefit. That dis-attification should nevertheless occasi mally arise, even under the best administration of a system capable of producing such happy results is not to be wondered at. Until the will of man shall be able to devise some plan of representative government, by which all who think themselves qualified.

ient here that threatens the stability of our system shows to deep conviction which pervades the world, that upon its ate depends the cause of republican government. The advocates of monarchical systems have not been slow in per ceiving danger in such institutions in the permanency of our constitution, not backward in seizing upon every passing erent by which their predictions of its spendy destruction could be in any degree justified. Thus far, they have been disappointed in their antisipations, and the circumstances by which they were encouraged, however alarming at the time, have in the end, only tended to show forth the depth of that devotion to , which is yet, thank God! the mester passion of the constitution and the consequent destruction of the confederacy which it binds together, would be the greatest sacrifice of human happiness and hopes that has ever been made at the shrine of personal smbitton, I do not hesitate to promise you that every effort in my power, whether in public or private life, shall be made for their preservation. The Father of his country, foreseeing this danger, warned us to cherish the I Union as the palledium of our safety, and the great exemplar of our political faith. Thomas Jefferson, has taught us, that is much that common sympathy between the states, out of which the Union sprang, and which constitutes its surrest foundation, we should exercise the powers which of right a belong to the gen ral government, in a spirit of moderation belong to the gen ral government, in a spirit of moderation of the control of the belong to the gen ral government, in a spirit of moderation and brotherly love, and religiously abutain from the assumption of such as have not been delegated by the constitution.
