Washington, Feb'y 4th, 1839.

In the senate to-day, Mr. Strange presented a joint solution of the legislature of North Carolina, instructing their senators, and requesting their representatives a congress, to procure the passage of some measures or unreasing the coinage of small silver change.

Mr. Clay, of Kentucky, took occasion to say, that a least had effects besides those of disturbing and dentitiving the currency. Other parts of the country made the same complaint which is her made by the legislature of North Carellina, of the deficiency of small silver change. The well was produced by the dispression of the state of the country of the state of the portunate value attached to gold and silver respective-ly by the famous gold bill. One of the results of that disproportion is notoriously that, whenever it is neces-sary t export bullion, the exportation is made in sil-

Mr. Clay said he had received many communica-sias affirming and certifying the fact he had stated.— was so predicted at the time of the passage of the Ladjusting the relative value of gold and silver.—

ander a few Tenants from Means. Barton, Lump-ton and Brown, the resolution was ordered to be prin-ied and referred to the commuter on finance.

During the unoraing Mr. Silas Wright, presented a memorial from Mr. Philip Kearney of New York, proposing a plan of a national bank which he believed, would greatly facilitate the financial administration of the generous of the proposition of the proposition. The meaning the proposition of the propositi mould greatly facilitate the financial administration of the government. The memorialist is a therough go-ing sevence. Mr. Wright bore high testimony to his intelligence and general respectability; but expressed his dissent to the conclusions of the memorial. It was ordered to be printed and referred to the committee on

This was petition day in the house: and the principal portion of the time was devoted to the reception of petitions and memorials from Vermont; many of which asked for the abolition of slavery.

The supreme court took up the case of D. A. Henden, Eaq yesterday. It is a notion for a mandamus term destrict court of the United States for Eastern Lemann, requiring the said court to restore the said distinct to the office of Clerk. The argument was commenced by Richard S. Cox. Eac. in support there ommenced by Richard S. Cox, Esq. in support there of, and continued by Mr Gilpin against the same.

To-day Mr Gilpin finished: and Mr. Walter Jones

finiowed on the same side.

Mr Southard will speak to-morrow in the motion.

This case is highly interesting. The whole system of the power of removal is involved in the discussion

FREE TRADE.

The efforts that are making in every section of the eastern states, and some portions of the western, to divert the trade from New-Orleans, seems to make it necessary for the real estate sowners of this city, and those interested in the general business of the state, whether in agriculture, manufacture, or rards, that steps should be taken in every proper form to counteract the immense influence now in progress towards the deviation of our traile to other points.

The autoin system of New-York has tended more to the advancement of the business of that env. If our legislature were to pass a law giving to every one the privatege of disposing of goods at auction, by the payment of the state duties, and have the duties on auction sales reduced on merchandize to one half or one per cent, the consequence would be to our city, the same as that system was to New-York, and they come to the state would be enormously increased.

Under the present laws, an individual visits New Orleans to dispose of sums of fifty or a hundred the usand dollars worth of merchandies, his course is to take a store, or place his goods in the hands of a commission mechant. In the event of the events of the events of the events in the events.

he sale.

In an enlightened community like this the error of estriction on trade should be done away with and the soner we begin the better.

THE LILY OF THE VALLEY.

DEDICATED TO M.

Thou lovely flower' the valley's pride—
Thou it richer far, to me,
Than all the pearls beneath the tide
Of India's cinerald sea; For then were once the favirite flower
Of one I lov'd in youth;
One as thy pearly petala pure,
And beautiful as Truth.

"Of one I lov'd in youth," said I ?

Love now—shall ever love,
Till scho bear my latest sigh
Back to its source above. Oh how I love to gaze upon Thy cluster d gems of snow!
Not all the gorgeous tints of dawn
Are richer, in their glow.

Yet, while upon thy charms I gaze,
'Tie not thy charms I see;
No;—'tis that form, of early days,
By mem'ry link'd with thee.

Again those ruby lips I kiss;
That silver voice I hear;
And, wildly wrapt in fancied bline,
Forget that all is drear. O blessed, yet mysterious power!

Descended from above—
That thus can make a simple flower,
The hallow'd shrine of leve.
